

SWAP FOR GUBERNATORIAL SUPPORT BY CDC IN 1970

Report Unruh Deal Giving State to McCarthy

By DREW PEARSON
and JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — A skillful move by which Sen. Eugene McCarthy ultimately will win most of the huge 174-vote California delegation, largest at the Democratic convention, is being planned by Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh.

He has already set up most of his secret maneuver and is scheduled to apply the finishing touches at a delegation caucus today.

What this means is that California, which votes early in the roll call of states at Chicago, will cast almost 174 votes for McCarthy and could start a psychological trend against Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

To put across this maneuver, Unruh has made a deal with the leftist California Democratic Council, with which he has always been at odds, to support him for governor in 1970.

In return he has stacked the Democratic delegation with McCarthy supporters and eased out most of those for Humphrey.

He has even barred all California congressmen except three who are strong for McCarthy. Such an old-timer as Rep. Cecil King, who has served longer in Congress than any other Californian, was dropped, together with Rep. Chel Holifield, new dean of the California delegation of congressmen. At a recent meeting of California Democrats in Washington with Unruh, Holifield protested that he had attended every Democratic convention as a delegate since he had been in Congress. It made no difference. Holifield is for Humphrey and he was barred.

Even such distinguished Democrats as Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, ex-governor, was excluded from the delegation, together with veteran Congressmen John Moss, B. F. Sisk, George Miller, Lionel Van Deerlin, and every other California congressman except Phillip Burton, Don Edwards and Tom Rees, who are strong for McCarthy.

Placed at the top of the new list of delegates when Unruh announced the change were Gerald Hill and Martin Stone, co-chairmen of the McCarthy California primary campaign. Both are active in the CDC, Hill being president.

Also on the new list is Carmer Warschaw, who came out for Ronald Reagan in the last election, even though she was Democratic chairman for Southern California. It's reported that Unruh will now make Mrs. Warschaw Democratic national committeewoman, in return for her support in his campaign for governor. Mrs. Warschaw is a member of the famous Harvey aluminum family, which has been able to wangle various political favors and defense contracts from the government.

The interesting thing about Unruh's political sleight of hand is that he announced it as the resignation of 25 delegates.

Actually some of them did not resign and are sore as blazes at being eased off the delegation. They were elected, and say that Unruh can not unilaterally announce their exit.

One who objects is Mrs. Yvonne Greene, whose hus-

Speaker Controls 100 Votes

CDC Chairman Says McCarthy Support Rising

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A top-level supporter of presidential candidate Sen. Eugene McCarthy predicted Friday that California will deliver 40 "sure-fire" votes for the Minnesotan on the first ballot at the Democratic National Convention.

But Gerald Hill, who is chairman of the California Democratic Council and a state co-chairman of McCarthy's California campaign, conceded that 100 or more members of the uncommitted 174-vote delegation are waiting to see what Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh will do.

Unruh, who was state chairman for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, heads the delegation Kennedy won just before he was shot to death June 4 in Los Angeles.

Hill, of San Francisco, said McCarthy delegates have supported Unruh's position "of holding the delegation uncommitted" to the convention.

He told a news conference there also was support for uniting the delegation behind a favorite son—perhaps Unruh.

McCarthy will speak to the delegation today. An aide said he would make brief remarks and then hold a question-and-answer session.

Hill and Assemblyman John Burton of San Francisco, Northern California chairman for McCarthy, said the candidate's visit was not an attempt to "raid" the delegation for votes.

VICE President Hubert H. Humphrey, McCarthy's rival for the Democratic nomination, also was invited before the delegation but declined.

Hill said Humphrey feared the comparison between himself and McCarthy.

"And I know why he's not coming," Hill said. "He knows the response (for McCarthy) would be overwhelming."

Hill and Burton were

Hit-Run Motorist Kills Man

An elderly, unidentified pedestrian was killed late Friday as he attempted to cross Pacific Avenue at 23rd Street. Police jailed a 46-year-old Dominguez man on suspicion of manslaughter and hit-run driving.

Jailed was Gary Hastings, 46, 21009 Prospect St., Dominguez, apprehended five blocks from the scene by policemen following up on information furnished by eyewitnesses to officers L. W. Leatherworth and K. E. Albright.

The eyewitnesses said the pedestrian was hurled 90 feet when the pickup truck struck him. Officers James Stewart and James Brooks, patrolling the area, arrested the driver near 21st Street and Locust Avenue.

KENNEDY HEIR? McGovern Enters Democratic Race

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., a critic of the Vietnam war and heir to many supporters of the late Robert F. Kennedy, will announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, it was learned Friday.

McGovern, one of the U.S. Senate's most articulate "doves" on the Vietnam question, scheduled a news conference here this morning to announce his decision.

The 46-year-old McGovern already has been named South Dakota's favorite-son candidate by the state's 26 delegates, and is to be placed in nomination at the Democratic National Convention which starts in Chicago Aug. 26.

Recently he was boomed as a possible dark-horse entry following a memorial dinner for Robert F. Kennedy held in Huron, S.D. That meeting was attended by Jesse Unruh, who was a strong Kennedy man and heads California's 174-man delegation to the Chicago Convention.

Unruh hinted that McGovern might fall heir to many California delegate votes.

The Huron meeting also was attended by a chief Kennedy man, Theodore Sorenson, who publicly praised McGovern as a man in the Kennedy tradition.

SOME OBSERVERS felt that the young, balding McGovern might get the support of those Kennedy backers who felt they could

54 Killed In 2 Air Crashes

United Press International

Two air crashes, one in the United States, the other in Europe took 54 lives Friday and left 26 injured, 11 of them seriously.

In Winden-Am-Aign, West Germany, a British Eagle Airways Viscount crashed when the pilot was unsuccessful in an apparent attempt to use the Nurnberg-Munich autobahn for an emergency landing. The fiery disaster on the superhighway killed all 48 persons aboard.

In Friday's other air disaster, at least six men were killed and 26 injured when an Air Force C-119 crashed on takeoff from Clinton County Air Force Base near Wilmington, Ohio.

ACTION LINE is your service, solving your problems, getting your answers, cutting red tape and standing up for your rights. To get action, write ACTION LINE, Box 230, Long Beach, Calif., 90801, or dial 432-3451 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., or 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

Computerized Kids

Q. I have a small analog computer which I would like to give to someone who is interested in electronics. I have all the instructions. It cost about $20. W. B., Long Beach.

A. We did some computing and came up with the West Branch of the Boy's Club of Long Beach August Pacheco, assistant executive director of the club, says boys from 7 to 18 will put the computer to good use in an electronics class which will be started soon. Pacheco will call you to make arrangements for picking up the computer.

Delayed Retirement

Q. I've talked to several employees of the City of Long Beach recently who are eligible to retire. They say they are postponing their retirement until after Jan. 1, 1969, as their pension will be increased by a considerable amount by staying on that short time. What is the reason for this? Mrs. V. J., Long Beach.

A. A new retirement program will go into effect Jan. 1, 1969, for general city employees of Long Beach if, as expected, it is approved by the employees involved. Under the plan, retirement benefits will be substantially increased for city workers. A 30-year veteran of city service, for instance, retiring at 60, with a $600 salary, will draw $233.33 a month from the city, plus Social Security, instead of the $123.68 a month now provided for. City employees must vote on the matter because, if it is approved, their contributions to the retirement fund will be increased. Retirement benefits paid to a city employee are those in existence at the time of his retirement, a spokesman said. Retirement pay for previously retired city workers was increased recently from 12-12 per cent, a spokesman said. This becomes effective in September. Active city employees will vote on the new pension plan Sept. 10-14.

Not Marking Time

Q. I have an old watch purchased in 1936 which is in need of much repair. The name on it is Empire Geneva and it has a Swiss movement. I have been told that it is too old to repair. Can ACTION LINE find someone who will try to fix it? It has much sentimental value to me H. R., Long Beach.

A. Three Long Beach clock shops we contacted said they often repair very old watches and clocks. All three said they would have to see your watch, however, before they could tell you whether they could repair it. You can consult California Time Service, 2194 Lakewood Blvd., 597 2485; Long Beach Clock Service, 527 E. Willow, 424-2897; or Snow's Clock Shoppe, 1839 E. Anaheim St., 591-7575, for information on repairs.

Land's Sake

Q. I was shocked to hear on the news that the assessed value of Gov. Ronald Reagan's land in Malibu, which was raised from $7,500 to more than $50,000, has now been returned to the original amount. In light of the current upward trend in land values, this 700 per cent decrease in property assessment seems out of line. Can ACTION LINE tell me why this drastic reduction in land value was made? J. T. W., Long Beach.

A. The County Assessment Appeals Board decision, which on Feb. 27 increased the assessment of Gov. Reagan's Malibu land from $7,500 to $54,000 for 1967-68, was binding for only one year, according to Margaret Coffey, chief field deputy for the county assessor's office in Los Angeles. Therefore, the tax has now returned to its original level. However, Bryan Stevens, San Marino high school teacher whose challenge of the assessment won the increase, has again appealed the reduced assessments for the 1968-69 fiscal year. Mrs. Coffey said the entire Malibu area is now in the process of being reappraised, but this will not be completed until the 1969-70 fiscal year.

All Booked Up

Q. My daughter's birthday is coming up, and she would like to have as a present, "For the Love of Ivy," "To Sir With Love," "In the Heat of the Night," "Lilies of the Field" and "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner." Where can I buy or order these books? C. M., Compton.

PAIR SUSPECTS IN L.B. ROBBERIES

Kidnap Jails Youths

Two teen-agers who kidnaped a 19-year-old girl and told her they were going to rob a store were nabbed outside a Long Beach market where they bought women's stockings to use as masks, police said Friday.

The girl, unhurt in the ordeal, hid in another car in the market parking lot as her captors tried to evade police on foot.

Booked on suspicion of kidnaping, robbery and assault with a deadly weapon were George Ellsworth Moore, 16, of 4221 Heather Road, and Samuel Charles Artinian, 18, of 3373 Studebaker Road. Police said the youths may be implicated in several recent Southland stickups.

Debbie Cabe, 19, of 4351 Faculty Ave., was abducted from her home by Moore at about 9 p.m., officers said. Police said the suspect used a pellet gun to force her to accompany him to his car. Moore and Artinian drove the girl around the neighborhood and at Stearns Street and Bellflower Boulevard she managed to tell a passerby to call police, officers said.

Police, also alerted by the girl's family, sped to the intersection where they found the suspect's gun. Then, officers said, they spotted the suspects' car in a parking lot at the Lucky Market at Spring Street and Palo Verde Avenue. They saw Moore leaving the store and took him into custody.

Moments later they nabbed Artinian who had left the car when he saw police arriving at the store. Police said they found Miss Cabe hiding inside a nearby car. She had fled the suspects' auto when Artinian left it, police explained.

namese troops reported killing 25 enemy Friday. Fighting also broke out 30 miles north of Saigon, where U.S. 1st Division infantrymen and South Vietnamese forces swept through a village and drove an enemy force into a bunker and tunnel complex. Sixteen enemy were killed and 21 rockets seized. Deep in the Mekong Delta 125 miles south west of Saigon, government troops found more than 375 mortar and rocket rounds in two enemy caches and destroyed a 20-bed Viet Cong hospital. In Hue, troops of the 101st Air Cavalry Division, Vietnamese police and American and Vietnamese navy men captured 56 suspected Viet Cong and two North Vietnamese soldiers. The Allied force was swept into the area by helicopters, patrol boats and air cushion vehicles. The boats and hovercraft were used to cut off enemy attempts to escape by sea.

Quits Over Birth-Control Dispute

BOGOTA — Foreign Minister German Zea Hernandez has resigned because of a dispute with President Carlos Lleras over the Pope's birth control encyclical, authoritative sources said Friday. These sources said Alfonso Lopez Michelsen will be named the new foreign minister. President Lleras had maintained silence on the encyclical, which prohibits Roman Catholics using any birth control except for the rhythm method. But Foreign Minister Zea Hernandez declared in Lima and in Bogota that he was in disagreement with the pontiff's proclamation and supported the need for birth control.

2 Former Nazi S.S. Men Convicted

NUERNBERG — Two former Nazi S.S. men were sentenced to life imprisonment Friday for slaughtering Jews in the Polish ghetto of Gorlice in 1942-43. Paul Baron, 58, was convicted of eight murders, in complicity in two additional murders, and four attempted murders. Ernst Picha, 51, was convicted of six murders and one attempted murder.

Ulbricht Calls for Peaceful Coexistence

BERLIN — Walter Ulbricht, East Germany's Stalinist-style leader, called Friday on West Germany to recognize his Communist nation as an equal and for both to enter the United Nations. The appeal seemed to be the start of a new campaign to bring recognition to East Germany. He presented the Communist-controlled Parliament seven resolutions aimed at "peaceful coexistence" between West and East Germany. In addition to the proposal for both to join the United Nations, they included an offer to exchange envoys and open negotiations with Bonn.

Rio Activists' Arrest Sparks Protest

RIO DE JANEIRO — Police used tear gas and clubs Friday to break up a series of demonstrations by students protesting the arrest of Vladimir Palmeira, an activist leader. Twenty of the demonstrators were reportedly taken into custody. The youths ran through downtown streets, turning over a police jeep, damaging several other vehicles and blocking traffic. Palmeira, who spearheaded antigovernment demonstrations over a three month period, was arrested Saturday.

RUSS ISSUE WARNING TO CZECHS

MOSCOW, Saturday — The Soviet Union issued a stern warning today to Czechoslovakia that Moscow alone is the guardian of the "purity" of Marxism-Leninism and reminded that the Kremlin still is the Mecca of Communism. In a 7,000-word article the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee published a "decision" on preparations for the 100th birthday celebrations of Soviet founding father V. I. Lenin. Without mentioning Czechoslovakia by name, the document made it clear it referred to persistent Soviet concern about the reform program of Czech party leader Alexander Dubcek. The Central Committee document said, "The Soviet Communist Party will protect the purity of Marxist-Leninist theory." The document further stated there could be no personal freedom for anti-Communists. "Development of Socialist democracy, personal freedom, presupposes education of all members of society in a spirit of irreconcilability with any infringements of the principles, the standards of the socialist community," it stated. The manifesto was published at a time when Yugoslav President Tito was visiting Prague and the Czech leadership had pressed forward with its democratization program. Tens of thousands had greeted Tito in the Czech capital Friday with chants of "Tito, Tito, Long Live Tito." He flew into Prague for a dramatic official visit giving moral support to the reform regime of Dubcek.

National Guard Patrols in Little Rock, Miami

Police and National Guard troops patrolled a section of central Little Rock, Ark., Friday night amid general calm after a racial demonstration led to rock-throwing and shooting. One Negro youth was wounded in the shooting, one policeman suffered a broken collarbone when hit by an unidentified object, and three Negroes were held by police.

Meanwhile, in Miami, riot-equipped National Guard troops Friday patrolled streets where three Negroes were shot to death and 18 persons were wounded during two days of battling, rock and bottle-throwing and burning. Officials clamped an 8 p.m. curfew on nearly half the city and police hoped that forecast heavy rains would prevent further flareups. Bars and liquor stores were ordered shut in a vast zone that encompassed some residential and business sections bordering trouble areas. Except for a few scattered shots, all was quiet Friday.

Bobby Baker Loses Plea . . . Temporarily

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Court of Appeals Friday turned down—at least temporarily—a request for a new trial for former Senate aide Bobby Baker but ordered a lower court to review evidence obtained by telephone wiretaps. Baker, one-time secretary to Lyndon Johnson when the President was Senate majority leader, was convicted Jan. 27, 1967, on seven counts of income tax evasion, larceny and conspiracy to defraud the government and sentenced to from one to three years imprisonment. He currently is on bail pending appeal of his conviction.

Marine Sentenced for Threatening LBJ

SAN DIEGO — A young Marine accused of threatening the life of President Johnson was sentenced Friday to a term in a federal youth institution. Jimmie Robert Powers, 17, of Dayton, Ohio, must stay in the institution until he is 21, U.S. Dist. Judge C. Nils Tavares ruled in denying a request for probation. Powers had testified that he made the threats only as a means of getting out of the Marine Corps.

Woman Sentenced for Daughter's Death

NEW YORK — With a last angry protest of innocence, attractive Alice Crimmins was sent to prison for 5 to 20 years Friday for strangling her 4-year-old daughter more than three years ago. Her small son was slain at the same time. The one-time cocktail waitress will be eligible for parole in three years and four months. Mrs. Crimmins called her prosecutors "rotten through and through."

Then in a rising voice she cried to the court: "I did not kill my children. I'm not guilty of this horrible crime. I did not do it." The defense said the sentence will be appealed.

1 Killed, 37 Hurt as Greyhound Bus Flips

COBLESKILL, N.Y. — A Greyhound bus with 38 persons aboard overturned during a heavy rainstorm near here Friday, killing one person and injuring 37 others. The accident, on Route 7 near this village west of Albany, hospitalized nine persons, all in satisfactory condition. The dead person was identified as Ann Nichols, 19, of Latham, a suburb of Albany.

Seabee Agnew Predicts Win

Combined News Services

James Randy Agnew had washed in muddy river water in Gia Le, South Vietnam so often he was in a Navy sick bay Friday morning to get his ears "unplugged" when he was told his father had been nominated for vice president.

"I was just waiting around when this medic who had been listening to the radio came over and told me Dad had been nominated," the 21-year-old son of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew said. "I was surprised, very surprised." Happy? I sure was. I still am. And I'm going to send Dad a wire as soon as I can."

The message, he said, would be: "Can't wait to get back and help." It will be a couple of months, anyway, before Randy can join his father's campaign team. He is a Navy Seabee, and his present job is repairing a bridge in Hue blown up by Viet Cong sappers during the offensive last February.

He is due for rotation back to the states in October, and said he expects to take a month's leave to help his dad in the final weeks before the November election. "I'll register as a Republican," he said, "but I'm not too much of a party person. I look at the man."

Young Agnew arrived at Phu Bai Feb. 2 and went through the rocket attack on this base near Phu Bai March 28. His unit moved to Hue three weeks ago to help repair damage from the Tet fighting.

Although the young Seabee says he has not been able to follow American politics too closely, he predicts that the Republican ticket of Richard Nixon and his dad will win.

WESTY VISIT

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, visited wounded Vietnam veterans at Irwin Army hospital at Ft. Riley, Kan. and presented medals to eight of them. The former commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam went to the hospital after telling 1,621 cadets at the closing ceremony of a six-week ROTC camp that "no other officer procurement program surpasses that of the ROTC program for either the quantity or quality of officers it produces." He left for El Toro Marine Air Base following the ceremony. (See other story on Page B-4.)

VIVA ZAPATA!

Mrs. Josefa Zapata, widow of Mexican revolutionary hero Emiliano Zapata, died at her home near Cuernavaca, Mex. Thursday—the 91st anniversary of her husband's birth. Zapata led a peasant army under the banner of "Land and Liberty" during the revolution of 1910. He was killed after the revolution during a period of strife among the revolutionary leaders.

IRS WINS ANOTHER! TROY LOSES

TROY SUZANNE

The U.S. Tax Court has ruled in favor of the Internal Revenue Service which sought to collect $5,100 in back taxes from actor Troy Donahue. The claim arose from an income tax return filed by Donahue in 1964 when he was involved in a divorce action with his wife, actress Suzanne Pleshette. The court determined that an interlocutory judgment for divorce handed down in California that year did not leave Donahue, whose real name was given as Merle Johnson, and Miss Pleshette, "legally separated" under a decree of divorce" for federal tax purposes and ordered the actor to pay the delinquent taxes.

SENTENCED

Councilman Louis Miriani, 72, a former Detroit mayor, was sentenced Friday to a year-and-a-day in federal prison and fined $40,000 for income tax evasion. Miriani was accused of evading taxes on $126,100 of income from 1959 to 1962 while he was mayor. He claimed the income came from nontaxable campaign contributions and plans to appeal.

RIDDLE DIVORCE

The wife of composer-conductor Nelson Riddle is seeking separate maintenance after 22 years of marriage. Mrs. Doreen Riddle filed the suit in Santa Monica and asked custody of their five children. Riddle also asked custody of the children in a cross-suit for divorce filed two hours after her petition. He alleged mental and physical cruelty. The couple was married Oct. 10, 1945.

The Andrews Sisters singing act, after almost 40 years, was ended Friday with an announcement by Maxine that she will become dean of women at Tahoe Paradise College.

SAD REWARD

Friends of "Honest" Douglas Johnson, the Negro man who collected a $10,000 reward seven years ago for finding and returning a Brinks Inc. sack containing $240,000, are rallying to his aid because he assertedly is seriously ill and impoverished. A fund-raising affair for him is planned Sunday at the William Rogers True Love Baptist Church in Los Angeles. Since finding the bonanza, Johnson, a janitor, has been plagued with misfortune such as losing the home he bought with the reward, suffering declining health and receiving crank letters criticizing him for his honesty.

NEW HEART

Nobuo Miyazaki, Japan's first heart transplant patient, remained semi-conscious Friday night. Doctors attending the 18-year-old youth reported his new heart was functioning well. Miyazaki received the heart of a 20-year-old accident victim Thursday in a 3½ hour operation performed by Dr. Juro Wada at the Sapporo Medical University Hospital.

IKE GAINS, BUT STILL CRITICAL

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's doctors reported Friday he is gaining strength and is in "excellent spirits" following his heart attack Monday in Washington, but he is still classified as critically ill. "Age, of course, is a factor," doctors said. Eisenhower is 77. On a statistical basis, the five-star general's sixth heart attack since 1955 meant that he so far has survived twice as many attacks as the number that apparently most often add up to certain and quick death. And his latest three have all occurred within 3 to 4 months. His doctors are pleased with the general's progress.

BEA BENADERET

Actress Bea Benaderet, star of "Petticoat Junction," said Friday in Hollywood she will take extended leave from the CBS comedy series starting immediately. Miss Benaderet underwent treatment last fall and winter for cancer, but returned for work in the series last spring. She said her decision was "in the best interest of my own health."

HOLLAND DIES

Rep. Elmer J. Holland, D-Pa., died Friday after suffering an apparent heart attack at his summer home near Annapolis. A spokesman at the Naval Academy Hospital said Holland, 74, was dead upon arrival at the hospital. He said an autopsy would be performed, but that the cause was presumed to be a heart attack.

Youth Suspect Surrenders in Shootout Case

A teen-ager tabbed by police as the sole survivor of four Black Panthers who wounded two officers in a blazing shootout at a Los Angeles service station surrendered Friday in a heavily-guarded courtroom.

Anthony Bartholomew, 19, accompanied by his father, his uncle and an attorney, surrendered by a prearranged plan to Los Angeles Municipal Court Judge Joan Dempsey Klein. He was immediately arraigned and taken to the new county jail where he was booked on a complaint charging two counts of assault with intent to murder the two policemen.

Judge Klein set preliminary hearing Aug. 20 at 8:45 a.m. in Division 40 of Municipal Court. The gun battle broke out Monday night when the officers, Rudy Limas, 25, and Norman Roberge, 29, pulled over a car containing four black men at a service station at Adams Boulevard and Montclair Avenue.

As the officers approached the auto, two men in the back seat opened fire and the wounded policemen returned their fire, investigators said.

KILLED were Stephen Kenna Bartholomew, 21; Robert Lawrence, 22, and Thomas Melvin Lewis, 18. Anthony is Stephen Bartholomew's brother.

Police Chief Tom Reddin said after the shootings police files on militant organizations listed the brothers and Lawrence as members of the Black Panthers.

Bartholomew was accompanied by his father, Reno Bartholomew, of 1961 E. 113th St., Los Angeles; the uncle, who refused to give his name, and Attorney Gary Bellow when he gave himself up at 5:55 p.m.

Bellow said the surrender followed a conference earlier Friday with Asst. Dist. Atty. William Ritz, in which Bellow told Ritz his client wanted to surrender in a courtroom, "where he would feel more protected."

JUDGE KLEIN denied Bellow's request for reduction of the $50,000 bail set for Bartholomew when Dept. Dist. Atty. John Howard objected. In asking for the reduction, Bellow said, "the boy voluntarily came in and there is little chance he would not return for trial." But Howard pointed out the two wounded officers are "in serious or critical condition."

Bartholomew and his relatives were searched by three sheriffs deputies before entering the courtroom, where a total of 10 deputies were present, an extra security precaution requested by Judge Klein.

DURING the arraignment, Bartholomew repeatedly mopped his forehead with a handkerchief and twisted the handkerchief in his hands. Bellow told Judge Klein the teenager was "scared to death."

Meanwhile, Los Angeles police identified as Black Panthers five of eight persons arrested in a parking lot gunfight with officers Friday.

Police said no one was hurt in that 12:30 a.m. battle between 15 officers and about one dozen black youths near Aliso Village, an interracial housing project in central Los Angeles.

Those arrested—including a girl and a juvenile—were booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

Judge's Former Husband Gets 1 to 10 Sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The former husband of a Los Angeles judge was sentenced to state prison Friday for swindling elderly women in real estate transactions.

Lorenzo V. Spencer, 54, of Los Angeles, was convicted in a nonjury trial last May 26 on three counts of grand theft and two of forgery. He was sentenced to 1 to 10 years in prison by Superior Court Judge George M. Dell.

Spencer refused probation, asking Judge Dell to sentence him immediately so he could appeal his case. The sentence will be held in abeyance pending the appeal. A $2,500 bail bond was set on Spencer.

Judge Spencer has been a jurist since her Oct. 6, 1961 appointment by former Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Hold Trunk Kill Suspect Without Bail

Trunk murder suspect James Henry Carter—charged with slaying a 42-year-old Hollywood waitress one year ago—was arraigned in Los Angeles Municipal Court Friday.

Carter, a 33-year-old telephone solicitor, is accused of murdering Evelyn Roberts, whose body was found Aug. 2, 1967, in a trunk in a Santa Monica motel.

Police said Carter had last occupied the motel room.

Utt Suggests New Justice Selecting

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

Justices of the 50 state supreme courts would nominate appointees to the U.S. Supreme Court, under terms of a proposal outlined Friday by Congressman James B. Utt, R-Santa Ana.

He revealed cosponsorship of a constitutional amendment calling for such a procedure "to take the selection out of politics."

AFTER A high court nominee is proposed, the House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate would receive it. Majority vote of both houses would be needed to confirm.

The appointment would be for 10 years, with reappointment possible by the same procedure.

UNDER this plan, he added, "nomination will require something more of a man than being in the favor of the president."

Such a constitutional amendment, if approved by the Congress, would need ratification of three-fourths of the states within seven years to become effective.

FLAG-CLAD YOUTH WILL GO ON TRIAL

Nathan P. Kilgore, an 18-year-old Fullerton youth arrested for wearing the U.S. flag, has been ordered to appear for trial Wednesday in Laguna Beach Municipal Court.

Bail was set at $190 for Kilgore, who was arrested near San Juan Capistrano Thursday when police found him asleep in his car, clad in a Nehru jacket made from two U.S. flags neatly stitched together. Officers said when they told Kilgore he was desecrating the flag, he replied, "It's my hang-up."

$300 Stereo Stolen

Burglars forced the front door at the home of Tetsuo Takeuchi, of 1331 W. 19th St. and removed a stereo receiver valued at $300, police said Friday.

L.A. Fiscal-Woe Solution Proposed

A Los Angeles City Council committee, seeking to avert a 36.4-cent property tax increase, came up Friday with a fresh proposal to solve fiscal problems.

The latest suggestion was a $3-monthly tax for garbage collection, plus a 1-per-cent sales tax for six months; a 5-per-cent "tipple tax;" an increased cigarette tax, and increased department fees.

The proposal also would involve transferring $4.2 million from the reserve fund to the general fund and issuing promissory notes to fire and police pension funds.

The "tipple tax" would be a 5-per-cent levy on all drinks sold across the bar. Councilman included the $6 million expected from the tax even though it has been challenged in court.

Erwin Piper, city administrative officer has said he is examining the possibility of the city borrowing money from banks as the cities of Long Beach and San Diego have done in the past.

The new plan will be submitted to the full council Monday.

Unruh Aide Hartog Buried in Mt. Sinai

LOS ANGELES (CNS) — Samuel S. Hartog, administrative assistant to Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, was buried in Mt. Sinai Memorial Park Friday.

Hartog, 43, died of a heart attack Wednesday in Hollywood. He leaves his wife, Betty, and two children, Keith, 6, and Richard, 5, of 3345 Berry Drive, Studio City.

Orange Co. Man Leaps to His Death

A 57-year-old Newport Beach man leaped to his death from the top floor of the six-story Park Lido Professional Building across the street from Hoag Memorial Hospital in Newport Beach Friday, according to the Orange County coroner's office.

A deputy coroner said the body of Gerald Hylton Hart, 1507 Ruth Lane, was found about 8:30 a.m. in a paved parking lot near the building. The victim reportedly had been under the care of a psychiatrist, the deputy said.

Film Producer Home Robbed by Burglars

BEVERLY HILLS (CNS) — The Coldwater Canyon home of motion picture producer Sam Brody has been burglarized of $10,000 in jewelry, police reported Friday.

Brody told police he discovered the theft early Friday when he returned to his home and found it ransacked.

SHIP'S OIL LEAK ALERTS L.A. HARBOR

A fireboat and a fire truck stood by Friday while a Liberian tanker which was leaking oil into Los Angeles Harbor was being unloaded.

Firemen said the Medusa, 673 feet long with a capacity of 1,590,160 cubic feet of oil, was dribbling a light, flammable oil into the water at the Time Oil Co. marine terminal at Berth 119. Location of the leak could not be determined until after unloading was completed.

Dontanville Molest Trial Set Sept. 3

POMONA (AP) — Superior Court refused Friday to dismiss a complaint charging Anthony David Dontanville, 35, with molesting a 6-year-old girl in July 1967. Trial was set for Sept. 3.

Dontanville, a former Pasadena Park Department employee, was convicted, and then acquitted, of murder in the sex strangulation of two Altadena sisters, Cecilia Renee Barill, 7, and Roberta Ann Barill, 6, in August 1967.

CALLS AGNEW VASTLY UNDERRATED

Nixon Outlines Coming Campaign

By AL EISELE
From Our National Bureau
MIAMI BEACH — Republican presidential nominee Richard Nixon, relaxed and savoring his newly-won political re-election, promised Friday to wage a campaign this fall "to get this darn country together."

Nixon also defended his controversial choice of a running mate, describing Maryland Gov. Spiro Agnew as "one of the most underrated men in America."

Nixon promised that as a candidate, he will engage in a "dialogue" with all Americans. "When I finish this campaign, Negroes are going to know that my heart is in the right place and they are going to respect me. So are whites," he said.

He also expressed certainty that Vice President Hubert Humphrey will be his Democratic opponent and predicted that Sen. Eugene McCarthy will be Humphrey's running mate.

Nixon discussed at length the coming campaign and the just-completed GOP National Convention during a press reception at Key Biscayne, a seaside resort south of Miami Beach.

Dressed in a natty sports coat and sipping iced coffee, Nixon chatted with newsmen, played the piano while they joined him in singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "Home on the Range." And practiced golf putts with evangelist Billy Graham.

He spoke at length in an almost offhand manner about his campaign plans, declaring that his election effort will not be one of "run, run, with the same speeches over and over," and promising to have more television panel shows, interviews and news conferences than in 1960.

He doesn't fear to campaign in the big city ghettos, and also disputed the view that many Americans are ready to vote for George Wallace because of racial bias. Most whites, he said, "don't want to hate."

Nixon indicated that he will concentrate on more issues than Agnew, and said he has some "exciting ideas on foreign policy after the Vietnam war is over."

"We're sitting on a tinder box around the world, wondering what's going to bust next," he said. "I really feel a historic opportunity... This is a period of leadership. We're living in a period of world revolution — this French thing and this Czech thing, they are symptomatic," he added. "This revolution is different from the American revolution. It's a revolution without a leader and without a purpose."

Nixon said his choice of Agnew as the GOP vice presidential candidate was "the toughest political decision I ever made." He added that the final choice was "very, very close."

Nixon also disclosed that at least three governors, Michigan's George Romney, Pennsylvania's Raymond Shafer and Massachusetts' John Volpe, were under consideration "down to the wire."

In addition, he said that California Gov. Ronald Reagan and New York Mayor John Lindsay were "front-runners" when he arrived for the GOP convention last Monday.

Nixon discussed the deliberations over his running mate that lasted 10 hours after he was nominated shortly after midnight Wednesday.

He decided in favor of Agnew, he said, largely because his long experience as a local government administrator in metropolitan Baltimore County, Md., and his 18 months as governor of Maryland.

But he cited other more personal reasons for his surprise choice, which loughed off an unsuccessful but embarrassing floor fight against Agnew's nomination at the convention Thursday night.

"There can be a mystique about a man," Nixon commented. "You can look him in the eye and you know him. You can see his got it."

"He's known now and as the campaign goes on, he'll become better known."

Nixon, who leaves today for a 10-day working vacation with Agnew and other top aides at Mission Bay near San Diego, Calif., with a stopover at the Texas White House today for a briefing on the Paris peace talks, portrayed Agnew as a "cool" candidate who is good on "dialogue" and doesn't get "emotional."

To the surprise of some newsmen, who never thought to make a comparison, Nixon said Agnew has much the same appeal to voters as Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, including an ability to get them to think about the issues without fiery oratory.

In an apparent reference to Henry Cabot Lodge, his 1960 running mate when he lost to the late John F. Kennedy, Nixon said a vice presidential candidate sometimes looks impressive when nominated but fails to measure up during the campaign.

Among the men he didn't pick as running mate, Nixon said Lindsay was seriously considered but was ruled out for two reasons. First, he said polls showed he could carry New York State without Lindsay, and second, a constitutional provision would have required Nixon to forfeit some of New York's electoral votes or to move to establish residence in another state.

"This year I couldn't do anything that appeared to be tricky," he said with a broad smile.

Nixon also named a number of prominent Republicans in Congress whom he considered but rejected because he wanted someone with executive experience. He mentioned Sens. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, Charles Percy of Illinois, and Howard Baker of Tennessee; House GOP Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan, Rep. Rogers Morton of Maryland, his convention floor leader, and California Lt. Gov. Robert Finch, his campaign manager in 1960.

Nixon also:

—Said he has called off plans to visit Russia before the election because "we have too many demands that are urgent in the United States to allow foreign travel."

—Reported that President Johnson phoned him Thursday night and told him: "Dick, you have my congratulations and my sympathy."

—Said he was sure the appeal of third-party candidate George C. Wallace would diminish when people "realize the choice is really between Nixon or Humphrey."

Agnew Upset at Being Depicted As 'Little to Right of King Lear'

New York Times Service
MIAMI BEACH — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, the Republican candidate for vice president, said Friday that he was deeply disturbed that "it's being made to appear that I'm a little to the right of King Lear."

Obviously weary but relaxed in his red-carpeted 12th floor suite at the Eden Roc Hotel here, the 49-year old Maryland governor smiled when an interviewer questioned whether Lear was a rightist and replied drily: "Well, he resorted to himself the right to behead people and by my definition that's a rightist position."

Then the smile disappeared and he quietly but emphatically began a lengthy defense of his own stand on civil rights — a stand that was widely challenged by liberals of his party yesterday after his surprise selection by Richard M. Nixon as the former vice president's running mate for the November election.

HE SAID he was not bothered by what he described as "a very weak and abortive effort" at the Republican National Convention Thursday night to nominate Gov. George Romney of Michigan for the vice presidency. But he declared that he was troubled by the emphasis on the part of newspapers, radio and television that he was a candidate whose civil rights record made him acceptable to Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and his Southern colleagues.

"This is hard to take for a guy who passed the first local public accommodation legislation south of the Mason-Dixon line. For the son of an immigrant who felt the sting of discrimination, it's hard to be referred to as a bigot."

"I THINK it should be completely obvious that if my civil rights position were what has been depicted, John Lindsay would never have seconded my nomination and neither would Chuck Percy. And, since Mr. Nixon sees my role in the cities as vital during the campaign, I would never be effective in those areas. But this doesn't mean that I condone violence."

Agnew was elected in 1966 with strong support from Democrats who deplored the segregationist policies of George P. Mahoney, their party's candidate. As executive of Baltimore County, Agnew pushed through in 1963 a local public accommodations law. As governor, he was also for a limited state open housing law, and supported stronger provisions in the legislation that was passed.

Demo Battle Looming on Viet Plank

WASHINGTON —(AP) A newly formed group of prominent Democrats is nearing agreement on a Vietnam peace proposal expected to touch off a major battle in the party's Platform Committee — and possibly on the convention floor.

The committee includes several Democrats who supported the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy for the presidential nomination. Backers of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy for the top spot on the ticket have been working with them on the proposed plank.

But one of the leading members of the new committee, Sen. Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, challenged interpretations that the peace-plan coalition represents a joint effort of the McCarthy-Kennedy forces to block the nomination of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

"THIS IS by no stretch of the imagination a pro-McCarthy or stop-Humphrey move," Pell said.

Pell said he is uncommitted to a candidate but views Humphrey's nomination as a certainty.

He said the committee is concerned solely with the platform and other convention issues and is not designed to bring the Kennedy backers into the McCarthy camp.

Joseph L. Rauh Jr., a Washington attorney supporting McCarthy, said in a separate interview that no question has been raised in the Vietnam plank discussions on the prospect of having the Kennedy forces get behind McCarthy for the nomination.

asked if they thought Humphrey had "written off" the California delegation.

"Nobody writes off an entire delegation," Hill replied, "but McCarthy is on the upswing and Humphrey is on the downswing."

"THERE is very, very little sentiment for Humphrey in the delegation," Burton said. He said he thought there were only about 10 Humphrey votes.

"Humphrey has very feeble coattails," Hill said. He said this was a "prime consideration" of Unruh, who, he added, "knows three or four (Democratic) Assembly seats are very shaky."

safe districts, do not want to run with Humphrey."

UNRUH, with other former Kennedy supporters, has been mapping strategy to keep the convention open and deny Humphrey a first-ballot nomination. That's the one point the Kennedy and McCarthy camps are agreed upon.

Hill praised Unruh for his unity move of placing some McCarthy supporters on the delegation after Kennedy's death. He said five of the delegates and 19 alternates were McCarthy supporters.

"It speaks very well for the fact he recognizes the combined strength (of the anti-Humphrey camps)," Hill said.

JULIE NIXON SICK IN BED WITH THE FLU

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Julie Nixon, 20-year-old daughter of the Republican presidential candidate, was sick in bed today with the flu and running a 102-degree fever.

Herbert G. Klein, press spokesman for Richard M. Nixon, said the family hoped she would be able to go with them to California this morning.

Julie, her fiancé, David Eisenhower, and her older sister, Tricia, 22, have campaigned actively for Nixon. She went to rallies social events and dances and stayed up late.

Julie shared Thursday night in the family's tumultuous ovation at the wind-up session of the convention where her father delivered his nomination acceptance speech.

'No Regrets,' Rockefeller Says in N.Y.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller returned Friday from the Republican National Convention and said he had no regrets about the way he conducted his unsuccessful campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

The governor flew into the Westchester County Airport from Miami Beach in the chartered jet airliner that carried him across the nation in his quest for the nomination.

AT THAT point, the 21 Secret Service agents who had been assigned to protect him since the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy officially ended their assignment.

SOUND OFF!

I read with interest the articles on Medicare. I am 80 years old and have profited from Medicare. But I am worried about how long it will last if people use it like I have just experienced. I recently moved here from Pasadena. I suffered a heart attack three years ago and have been going to my doctor there occasionally for check-ups. Finally I decided to use a doctor here and save that drive. The charges for my doctor visits in Pasadena were $27.50. Here, a doctor examined me, said I was in good shape for my age but ordered me back for more tests. Three nurses ran seven blood tests and they checked everything else. Then they told me I was fine. But when I got the bill, I almost had another heart attack—$129. I consider this charge outrageous. How long before the Medicare regulations will have to restrict the doctors with their charges? Wallace Says He Won for Agnew

New York Times Service

RALEIGH, N.C. — Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama claimed credit Friday for influencing the selection of Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, of Maryland, as the Republican vice presidential candidate. He also said he was responsible for the emphasis on "law and order" at the GOP national convention.

"They're talking like we do," the segregationists presidential candidate of the American Independent Party declared. "It's too late, but at least it's progress."

WALLACE was commenting at a news conference on the surprise nomination of the Maryland governor, who has taken a strong stand recently against Negro militancy, and has supported harsh measures to suppress civil disorders.

Wallace declared that proof of the effectiveness of his own campaign against the "softness" and "permissiveness" of federal law enforcement policies had come at the Republican National Convention, which ended Thursday in Miami Beach.

His campaign "already has enough influence to make one of the major parties pick a certain nominee for vice president, and that is already successful," Wallace said.

HE SAID any Republican effort to appeal to "the people who are sick and tired of anarchists in this country" was bound to fail because "the national Republican Party has done as much as anybody to take control of local institutions away from the people."

"Both the Republicans and Democrats in Congress supported the open housing bill," Wallace said. "And people are tired of all movements that kowtow to anarchists in the streets. When they (the Republicans) realized this, well, of course, they now say, 'we're going to lead you out of it.' But it's too late. They had their chance in 1964, but at least we've got them talking a little more about law and order now."

"All of them—both major parties—say you got to reduce the causes of riots, and there is no cause for riots," Wallace asserted.

not support the candidacy of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., because of statements he made against his fellow senator during the primary campaigns.

McGovern reportedly was approached by anti-Vietnam war Democrats last year and urged to run for president but he declined in part because he faces re-election this year, and partly because he hoped Robert F. Kennedy would make the race.

McGovern, a World War II bomber pilot, outlined his opposition to the Vietnam war in a Senate speech last April, describing it as the "most tragic diplomatic and moral failure in our national experience."

He called for a halt in American bombing in Vietnam, along with abandonment of "search and destroy" operations. He also appealed for a clear U.S. declaration of willingness to negotiate directly with the Viet Cong.

HE ALSO urged a more broadly based civilian government and said of the Communists: "They will play a significant role in any provisional government."

McGovern said the United States had "no obligation to play policeman for the world," despite an assumption in some quarters that "we may be ordained to play God in Asia."

As a declared candidate, McGovern could fall heir to as many as 300 first ballot votes from delegates who had supported Kennedy.

McGovern, former professor of history at Dakota Wesleyan University, was elected to the Senate in 1962 after resigning his post as the Food for Peace administrator in the administration of John F. Kennedy. He had served as a congressman between 1957 and 1961.

M'Carthy Backed by Texas Senator

HOUSTON (UPI) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy made his first trip to the Humphrey country of Texas Friday and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., promptly endorsed him for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The Minnesota senator told a rally Friday night the United States must stop feeling it necessary to "intervene everywhere across the globe."

He told a news conference earlier a new U.S. weapons system which will spray missiles out of space to a variety of targets will jeopardize arms-control talks and its planned testing ought to be suspended.

Black Rocky Group Says 'No' to Nixon

NEW YORK (UPI) — An organization of Negro Democrats and independents who had supported Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's bid for the GOP presidential nomination announced Friday it would not support GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon.

Al Duckett, a spokesman for Black Independents and Democrats (BID), declined to say whether the nationwide organization would support the Democratic nominee.

Duckett said his group will wait and see what the Democrats do in Chicago.

"WE HAVE no candidate right now," Duckett said. We are just anti-Nixon.

Duckett also said the organization was changing its name to Black Independents and Democrats for Freedom and would mount a voter registration drive between now and election day to bring Negroes to the polls.

He said former baseball star Jackie Robinson — a Rockefeller adviser — had joined his organization as honorary chairman along with the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., musician Cab Calloway, former CORE National Director James Farmer and entertainer Billy Daniels.

Eight Boycott Demo Confab

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Six of Louisiana's eight U.S. congressmen have refused to be delegates to the Democratic National Convention, United Press International learned Friday, presumably because of strong sentiment in the state for George Wallace.

State Democratic Chairman Arthur Watson said Reps. Edward Hebert, J.D. Waggoner, Jr., Otto E. Passman, John R. Rarick, Edwin Willis and Speedy O. Long declined spots on the delegation.

Willis first accepted a position, then changed his mind, Watson said.

GOP GIVES BIG RAISE TO BLISS

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Ray C. Bliss, chief architect in rebuilding the GOP after its 1964 humiliation, was re-elected chairman of the Republican National Committee Friday with a $10,000-a-year raise.

Richard Nixon informed a closed breakfast session of the committee, that he wanted to keep the 59-year-old master technician who is the party's chief administrative officer.

Selection of the national chairman historically has been left up to the party's presidential nominee.

Nixon has an intense interest in and knowledge of the organizational aspects of professional politics. He obviously felt Bliss, who like Nixon himself stuck with the party and fought to keep it alive in its darkest days, was the man to handle the day-to-day operation.

NIXON WAS known to be pleased with the efficiency and dispatch with which Bliss planned and ran the convention that ended Thursday night.

The national committee that was selected during the convention voted to raise Bliss' salary from $30,000 to $40,000 yearly.

Bliss, Akron, Ohio, took over as national chairman April 1, 1965, following an upheaval within the party after its stunning setback in 1964.

Bliss always has been identified with the conservative wing of the party, although his main interest lies in the structure and operation of the party rather than in policy questions.

Bliss has preached unity since he began putting the GOP back together after it was torn apart by the bitter fight for the presidential nomination in 1964. One of his chief missions has been to quell the kind of squabbling that has weakened the Republicans in the past.

vention said that if he is elected president, the federal government will become the model employer of Latinos "from the White House on down."

AND he said the touchy diplomatic question of Mexican "green card" workers being allowed to work in the U.S. would have to be resolved.

"We have no desire to damage the economy of our good neighbor to the south, but we cannot accept a situation which severely restricts the economic opportunities for our own citizens," he said.

Before arriving in Corpus Christi, Humphrey met at the LBJ Ranch with President Johnson.

L.B. Is Due to Lose the Yorktown

Long Beach is due to lose the anti-submarine carrier USS Yorktown to the Atlantic Fleet, Vice Adm. Bernard F. Roeder, 1st Fleet commander, announced Friday.

The Yorktown, just returned from a Vietnam deployment, will replace the carrier USS Randolph, which is being deactivated under a government economy move, Adm. Roeder said in San Diego.

Loss of the Yorktown means the Pacific Fleet will be down to three ASW carriers — the Bennington, Hornet and Kearsarge, all based in Long Beach.

The Penatgon announced earlier that two Long Beach ships, the oiler Cimarron and attack cargo ship Matthews, will be deactivated in line with the economy move.

It is expected the Yorktown will leave for her new Norfolk, Va., homeport some time later this year, joining the Wasp and Essex as Atlantic Fleet ASW carriers.

"She has paid her fee," Assemblyman Greene told this column. "Speaker Unruh hasn't returned her fee. She has written no letter of resignation and under the law she has to resign in writing."

"But after I announced that I was for Humphrey, Unruh's headquarters announced that my wife had resigned as a delegate. On the contrary, we're going to the convention and I predict Speaker Unruh will encounter some serious repercussions in removing a black person from the delegation."

"I CAN also assure you that there will be eight votes cast for Vice President Humphrey on the first ballot."

Assemblyman Greene went on to name some of the delegates, including Roosevelt Grier, the giant Negro football player who tackled Sirhan Sirhan after the Robert F. Kennedy assassination; and Rafer Johnson, the famous Negro Olympic decathlon champion, also a Kennedy bodyguard.

Another Humphrey supporter who was eulogized off the California delegation is Mrs. Florence E. Song of Monterey Park, who had resigned on condition that her husband, a state senator, be named a delegate in her place.

Unruh announced her resignation, however, and did not appoint her husband in her place. There was good reason for barring either of the Songs, for their son-in-law Charles Winner is a Humphrey campaign manager.

ANOTHER Humphrey delegate who found himself in the list of those who have resigned is Thomas Consiglio of Downey, an official in the United Steelworkers.

At a recent meeting of labor leaders with Humphrey, he told HHH: "I'm probably the only delegate in this meeting who will be in Chicago to vote for you."

Yet Consiglio woke up the other morning to read in the newspaper that he had resigned as a delegate to the convention.

Queried by this column over the phone, Consiglio said that some time ago, when Bobby Kennedy was still alive, he had resigned because he was a Humphrey man and he wanted

Humphrey Woos Texas Latin Vote

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was greeted enthusiastically Friday by delegates to a Mexican-American convention, and he told them their increasingly militant voice "has been heard in Washington."

But some of them also made it clear they do not want Texas Gov. John Connally on any presidential ticket with Humphrey.

About 1,000 Humphrey fans, nearly all of them Mexican-Americans, jammed a hotel lobby and the street outside to welcome the vice president on a two-day Texas campaign swing aimed mainly at the Spanish-speaking vote.

THERE WERE about 50 pickets supporting Sen. Eugene McCarthy and about 50 others who carried signs against Connally, who has been mentioned as a vice presidential possibility.

"A Deal With Connally Means Chicano Votes for Nixon," one sign read. Chicano is a term Mexican-Americans use to describe themselves.

Humphrey shook hands with many of those carrying anti-Connally signs. He declined to say whether the Texas governor is in the running for the second spot. He said "there has been absolutely no pressure from anyone" in Connally's behalf, and said Connally's name has been proposed only "by a few of his close friends."

THE CROWD outside the hotel shouted "Viva Humphrey!" and "Humphrey yes, Connally no!" Inside the hotel, standing before a mariachi band, Humphrey happily signed autographs and shook hundreds of hands.

Once when the crowd shouted "Viva Humphrey!" the vice president shouted back: "Viva Dr. Garcia!" referring to Dr. Hector P. Garcia, founder of the American GI Forum.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday
Your birthday today. You are likely to find the year hectic. You will run the risk of going from comfort to a circus. The day is full of unknown duties. These great adventures will not be enjoyed unless they are safely ended today. The day is generally rebellious and often unpredictable or enigmatic. Whatever the circumstances, you must work out the issues. (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Your best path is to attend your share of the community affairs. Then seek your favorite outdoor recreation or solitude. Ignore rumors or gossip.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Flips in financial understandings with your partner may surprise. Make sure the conclusion is not your fault.
PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): The temptation today is to overdo both creature comforts and exercise. There may be interesting turns in either events.

LEO (Jul. 23-Aug. 22): Your best path is to attend your share of the community affairs. Then seek your favorite outdoor recreation or solitude. Ignore rumors or gossip.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Visit places are just the thing for today. Visit in different directions. Positioning hard to transport items.
LEO (Jul. 23-Aug. 22): This is not a suitable day for financial decisions. You must do so, then make allowances for further information which will all most certainly change the picture. Outdoor recreation is preferred.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): If you have been severe in your opinions of others, today is a good day to soften judgment on. Be gracious and calm down the conflicts.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your religious exercises, whatever they are, are just the thing for today. Visit in different directions. Positioning hard to transport items.

THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW

BOSTON (AP) — Gov. John A. Volpe returned home Friday from the Republican National Convention at Miami Beach obviously disappointed that he wasn't selected as the vice presidential candidate, but promising to campaign for the man who was.

Volpe said an aide to the GOP presidential nominee, Richard M. Nixon, told him he hoped "I'd be a part of the new administration."

But he said he got no direct offer from Nixon. "I'd be less than human if I said I wasn't somewhat disappointed. I know as of yesterday (Thursday) morning I was almost the nominee," Volpe said.

JAMES RESTON ASKS:

Did Nixon Win, Lose in a Day?

By JAMES RESTON

NEW YORK — There is obviously something wrong or at least something missing in most of the explanations of why Richard Nixon chose Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland as the Republican vice presidential nominee.

Nixon won the nomination and blew the election all in one day, according to some of these explanations, by appeasing the South with Agnew and affronting the urban North. By this single decision, it is said, he chose to go with the conservative minority of the country and defy the liberal majority, and in the process helped reunite the Democrats and divide the Republicans.

If this is so — and it may be — Nixon, who calculated his moves with extraordinary skill until he got the presidential nomination, suddenly wrecked it all with a calamitous blunder immediately after his victory at Miami Beach.

This, however, is not at all like Nixon. He is not a capricious man. He is a very deliberate and careful political strategist and tactician. He needed the South to win the nomination, but it is not likely that he would allow the Southern Republican leaders to dictate his choice of a running mate or even give them a veto over a liberal vice presidential candidate if he really thought he needed a northern liberal like Lindsay, Percy or Hatfield to win the election.

If he is not a prisoner or a fool, then, what is the explanation of his decision? It may be that he gave the explanation himself in a nationwide radio speech last May 16, when he analyzed the temper of the nation and reached the conclusion that there was a wholly "new alignment" of political forces in America and that these forces already represented an American majority "that will affect the future of America for generations to come."

Nixon said this "new coalition" was composed of traditional Republicans, "the new South," "black militants," new liberals who wanted participatory democracy, and the silent millions in the middle of the political spectrum who are seldom heard from except on election day.

This might seem to the old power blocs like an odd collection of "strange bed-fellows," Nixon said, but they were all unhappy about something, all protesting against centralized government and calling for greater individual freedom. The new South, for example, was no longer bound by "racist" ideology and was developing industrially through private enterprise. Similarly, he added, he "black militants" were now calling for black private enterprise rather than for handouts or welfare, and the "new liberals" were demanding more participation in government, more "personal freedom and less government domination."

In short, Nixon feels that there is now a deep disenchantment among Democrats and independents with the failures of a powerful federal government to deal with the problems of poverty and war, and that he can exploit their grievances against violence abroad and lawlessness and poverty at home in the coming months of the campaign.

Moreover, Nixon apparently feels that he can make real progress in the South and thus turn the Republican party into an effective national rather than a regional party if — and this is his immediate practical problem — he can only cut deeply into George Wallace's strength.

Even the Humphrey Democrats concede that if Nixon mounts an effective campaign on the theme that a vote for Wallace will be wasted or may even elect Humphrey — if Nixon can do this, he may very well win. And it would obviously ly have been hard for Nixon to do this with a John Lindsay, or a Senator Percy, or some other Republican.

VIEWPOINT

N. Y. Times Service

Northern progressive as his running-mate.

The outlook, therefore, is for a very hard Nixon campaign appealing to all the dissident elements Wallace is now gathering and to all the others in what Nixon calls the "new coalition," the people who are sore at big government, big unions, costly wars, etc.

Maybe he can do it and maybe he can't. It is hard to see how he can hold that part of his "new alignment" that wants to hurry up the process of change and the other forces in the coalition who are complaining that the process of change is going too fast already.

What is clear, however, is that Nixon is not being dragged down this road by somebody else but has chosen it himself. He has been impressed by the "new alignment" theories of Stephen Hess, a young conservative writer from Harvard. He apparently believes that there is a majority coalition of frustrated and angry people in the country, and that he can gather them all together by neutralizing Wallace on the "law and order" issue.

This still leaves the question of why Nixon chose Agnew as his partner in this enterprise. Agnew is one Greek bearing no gifts for anybody. For example, Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, who is one of the most articulate of the new legislators in Washington, would obviously have articulated the Nixon thesis much more effectively.

But Nixon was not very happy with Henry Cabot Lodge as his running-mate in 1960; Lodge had a mind of his own and sometimes made the voters wish he had been the nominee rather than Nixon. There will obviously be no such problem with the governor of Maryland.

Nixon will not only be "the one" but "the only one" in the Republican race. Agnew is merely the symbol of Nixon's strategy, which is to travel a little right and south of center, gathering up the frustrated coalition as he goes.

'Quick Temper Not Ruinous for Nixon'

POTNEY, Vt. (UPI) — Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., at 75 the ranking Republican in the U.S. Senate, says Richard M. Nixon has "the makings of a good administrator" even though his quick temper sometimes gets him into trouble.

Aiken said in an interview Thursday both Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller discussed the presidential nomination with him before the party's convention. He said he had promised to support and work for whomever was nominated.

GOP Ticket Wins Praise From Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay returned home from the Republican national convention in Miami Beach Friday, full of praise for the GOP ticket, but with some reservations about the party's platform.

Lindsay said the Republican slate of Richard M. Nixon and Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew "is a good ticket and I support it." He said he would be "as helpful as I can" in campaigning, and added that he was particularly concerned with the "young, progressive candidates" seeking election.

L.B. Men Remember How Northampton Took 2 Fish

By GEORGE LAINE
Staff Writer

Many never heard of Tassafaronga, Savo Island or even Guadalcanal.

But a couple hundred men in Long Beach today know the names well.

Tassafaronga was etched into their minds the night of Nov. 30, 1942, when their ship — the heavy cruiser USS Northampton — was sunk by the Japanese fleet attempting to resupply soldiers on Guadalcanal.

The Navy version of the battle commands little space in official records. It says the Northampton was sunk as a result of two enemy torpedo hits, that 49 American sailors were killed, and 29 others wounded.

OTHER MEMBERS OF THE 611-man crew swam to two U.S. destroyers — the Fletcher and the Drayton — some spending up to five hours in the sea.

The Navy left much of the story untold.

"I was in No. 4 boiler room," said Doug Dungan, of Chula Vista. "We knew what it was as soon as it hit. We tried to keep the boiler going, but the bulkhead started to split. We secured the boilers and left."

George Bock of Allentown, Pa., was an electrician's mate the night a "fish" ripped into the 600-foot warship. Assigned to a damage repair unit, he was ordered to where the damage was major and flames were raging.

"I went to the port engine room and got the hatch open but couldn't budge the grating," he said. "We tried a cutting torch, but it was no good. There were about 20 guys in there and the water was coming in pretty fast. The poor devils."

"I still have nightmares about that," Bock said. Harold Mason, of 2529 Knoxville St., Long Beach, was a seaman manning anti-aircraft guns.

"All I could think of after she started to list was the sharks," he said. "I still get a clammy feeling thinking about it."

Like Mason, Jeff Small, of 5625 Roland St., Long Beach, spent time in the water, after the midnight attack.

"I swam to a life raft with about 25 or 30 men hanging on all around it. A chief bos'n was counting cadence. He'd say 'One, two, three, kick' and everybody would kick."

"I didn't have to stay long to see that if they were in a circle, kicking, they weren't going anywhere."

"I swam off alone, and about dawn I saw the destroyer — the Fletcher — and climbed up the side. I remember a sailor asked me if I wanted some help and I told him 'Hell, no — I got this far alone. I can make it the rest of the way by myself.'"

Frank Velky of Kansas City, Kan., swam almost three hours with two nonswimmers clinging to him. The feat earned him a mention in Ripley's "Believe It or Not," partial paralysis and a medical discharge for Velky.

Velky — and the others — talk about the valor displayed that night.

"Heroes were a dime a dozen," said Velky.

E. J. Corbin, of Ada, Okla., said he was one of the volunteers who stayed on to wreck radar gear after most of the crew went over the side. Finally, Capt. Willard A. Kitts III ordered all men off the sinking ship.

"WE DIDN'T JUMP," John Alexander, of 8067 Chapman Ave., Stanton, said. "We walked down the side."

With flames leaping through most sections of the Nora, the men were concerned with saving lives and putting out fires.

"All but one," Don Bushard, of San Jose, said.

"There we were fighting a fire with ammo blowing up all around us and one of the guys stopped to light a cigarette."

"Right away some guy up on the wardroom bridge yells down 'Hey, put out that cigarette. You trying to start a fire?'"

The BG Joins Society of 25-Year-Old Ships

The Long Beach-based dock landing ship USS Belle Grove has joined the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force's Quarter-Century Society.

A shipboard ceremony Friday at the Naval Station's Pier F marked the 25th anniversary of the ship's commissioning at Moore Dry Dock Co. in Oakland.

The 458-foot Belle Grove, called "BG" by her crew, served more than two years in the Pacific during World War II, and first came under fire in the Gilbert Islands just three months after commissioning.

Her activities in the Vietnam conflict have included control of river and helicopter forces in the Rung Sat Special Zone.

Decommissioned in March of 1945, Belle Grove came back to service for the Korean War, serving in the Atlantic. While there she took part in the first full-scale NATO exercise, then moved to Long Beach in 1955.

The ship is commanded by Cmdr. John T. Williams of Gadsden, Ala., and is named for the birthplace of President James Madison in Port Conway, Va.

Included in Friday's ceremony was a congratulatory message from the Chief of Naval Operations, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer.

Architect Fee Recommended

From Our L.A. Bureau
County Fire Chief Keith A. Klinger Friday recommended a $5,500 architectural service fee for a new $100,000 fire station in Lakewood.

The fee, slated for architect John T. Cashion Jr. of Pomona, must be ratified by county supervisors. The station is projected for Greenmeadow Road and Maybank Avenue.

L.B. TREASURE STRAND DRAWS MANY SEEKERS

Scores of treasure seekers converged on the Long Beach Strand at the foot of Granada Street Friday in response to the latest clue in the International Sea Festival Treasure Hunt.

Equipped with garden shovels, rakes, and a variety of other implements, hundreds of persons remained past dusk Friday evening searching for the elusive pirate's cache — worth up to $1,500 to some lucky finder.

A flurry of excitement rippled through the crowd when a 17-year-old boy discovered a small box buried in the sand about 4:30 p.m. It turned out to be another bogus chest, one of three found in recent days.

The real treasure chest can easily be recognized. It is in a plastic bag, is a brown natural-wood color with hob-nail nails. A special telephone number is painted on the side.

New Chief of Police Sought in Los Alamitos

By BARBARA KNESIS
Staff Writer

The search for a new chief to head the troubled Los Alamitos Police Department was officially launched Friday.

City Manager James Smith said he has placed an advertisement in Western Cities Magazine and if a city time-table is followed he hopes to make the appointment "on or about Oct. 5."

The city is also seeking three more patrolmen, Smith said.

He said the time-table for finding a new chief calls for all the advertising to be placed by Aug. 16, applications accepted by Sept. 11, written examinations by Sept. 21, and oral testing by Sept. 29.

Smith said city councilmen will be asked Tuesday night to approve a contract with Cooperative Personnel Service for testing. The firm would name five top candidates and the city would make their selection from them.

Specifications call for a man with at least seven years of "increasingly responsible experience," five at the lieutenant level or higher, and two in command supervision.

He should be a college graduate with a specialty in police science or a related field, Smith said.

Problems in the small department came to light June 28 when Smith fired Police Chief Donald French, who organized and headed the department since the city's incorporation in 1961.

The 47-year-old chief demanded an appeals hearing and, after three emotional sessions, city councilmen sitting as a personnel board upheld Smith's action.

Smith had charged French with personal financial irresponsibility and poor leadership.

French countered, saying he was fired for political reasons—hinting at the involvement of gambling interests. He threatened to take the matter to Superior Court, but thus far has not done so.

Smith named Sgt. William Austin as acting chief, but Wednesday Austin was charged with assault and battery against a 19-year-old Rossmore youth. The boy claimed Austin beat him up in the police station when he went to reclaim a tape recorder.

Smith then stepped into the post where he said Friday he will probably remain "for political reasons only" even if Austin is acquitted Aug. 27 in Municipal Court.

Rites for Lawman McClelland Slated

Final rites for former Long Beach Police Chief Joseph H. McClelland, 75, will be Monday in Riverside, with interment in Woodlawn Mausoleum, Santa Monica.

A fiery law officer, McClelland was nationally known as the chief who officially offered to buy a new hat for any member of his department who killed a gangster.

He joined the department in 1922, was appointed chief in 1933, and served until 1939 when—at his own request—he returned to the rank of detective-inspector.

McClelland was reappointed chief in 1941 and served until 1943, when he resigned to become special investigator in the State Attorney General's office under Gov. Earl Warren.

In 1947, he resigned the state post to become chief of the Santa Monica Police Department, where he served until 1950.

McClelland came out of retirement in 1953 to organize and head a police department for newly-incorporated Los Altos where he served until 1958.

J. H. McCLELLAND

A 32nd degree Mason and member of Al Malaikah Shrine Temple, McClelland is survived by his wife Amy, of Riverside, two daughters, Mrs. Olive Dutcher, of Stanton, and Mrs. Virgene Salzer, of Los Altos, and a brother, Walter G. McClelland of Clearwater, Florida.

Services are scheduled for 11 a.m. Monday in the Garden of Prayer Mortuary.

Bassett Escapes Chamber

Fred Kipp Bassett remained on Death Row late Friday after the California Supreme Court set aside his date with the lethal gas chamber for the "plotted" execution of his mother and father five years ago in Carson.

Officials at San Quentin Prison said the 23-year-old former California State College at Long Beach student will remain in the maximum security cell-block "until the paperwork gets here."

Bassett's conviction was reduced from first-degree murder to second-degree murder by the high court on the basis of psychiatric reports.

A prison official said the killer will apparently be transferred from San Quentin to the Reception Guidance Center at Vacaville.

Bassett was 18 at the time he killed his parents, Fred and Margaret Bassett, in their home at 183 W. 234th St., Carson, by following a plan — a clumsy murder-suicide plot — worked on almost 10 years.

Committed to Atascadero State Hospital as insane, Bassett was found sufficiently sane in 1966 to stand trial, and was convicted on both counts of first-degree murder.

Although the high court found overwhelming evidence showing Bassett "planned the parade with precision and knew it was wrong," it concluded, "his diminished mental capacity was such that he could not maturely reflect upon the gravity of his contemplated act."

Kearsarge Men Hit by Fumes

Four Navymen aboard the USS Kearsarge at the Long Beach Naval Shipyard went down the hatch Friday — and didn't come up again.

The four — overcome one-by-one by cleaning solvent fumes in an elevator shaft — were finally rescued by sailors with special gear.

Trouble started at 2:30 p.m. when Randall J. Garner was overcome while working in the ship's forward elevator machinery space and toppled 15 feet.

A Navy fireman, James W. Cary, went down the shaft to rescue Garner, but also collapsed.

Next, Hospitalmen Peter Strauss and Larry Wade entered the area to rescue their buddies, and they also fell victim to the fumes.

After rescuers pulled the four men out, they were treated at the Navy Dispensary.

HUGE CRANE New Giant Sprouts in L.B. Port

By DICK EMERY
Staff Writer

The harbor is sprouting another giant.

This one is the biggest of the lot, a four-legged Goliath which will stand 150 feet tall.

The giants are port gantries, huge cranes which run back and forth on steel tracks along the wharves.

They lift cargo in multi-ton loads, in and out of ships.

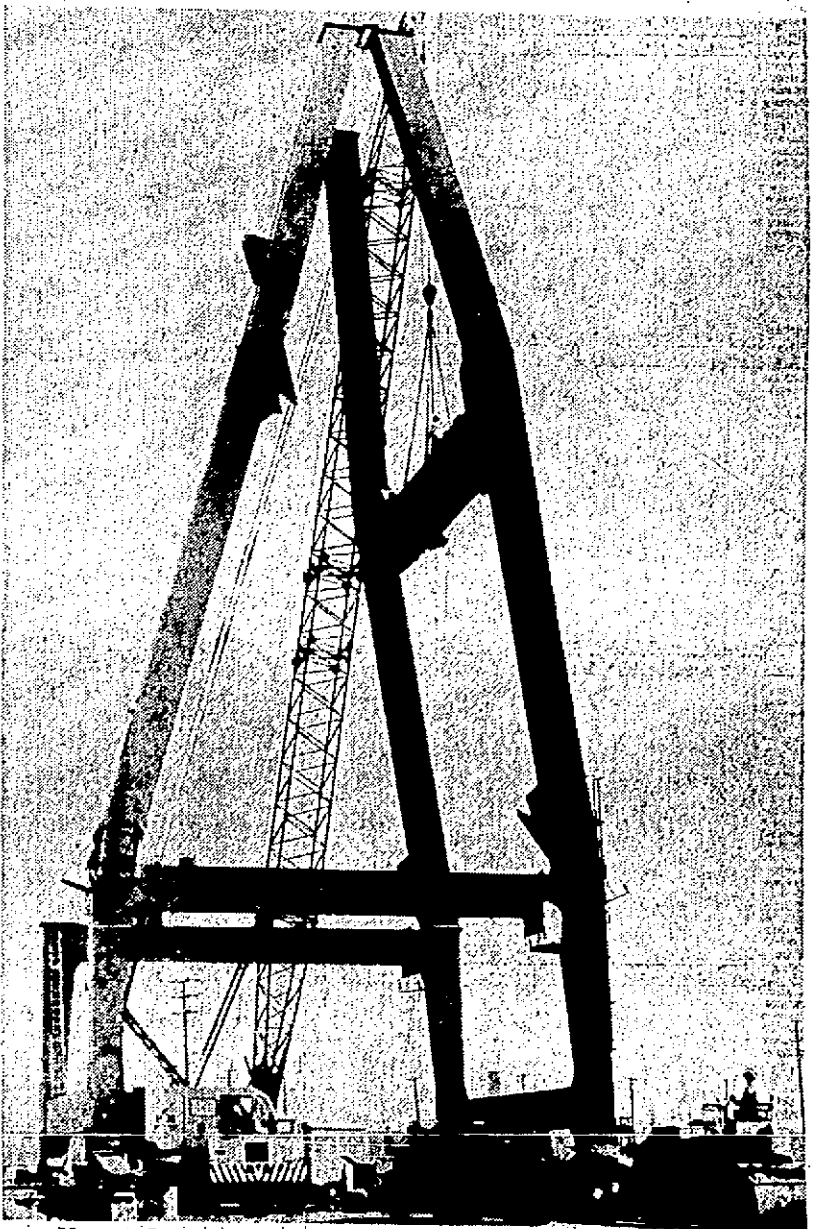

Already, in the maze of harbor fills and slips of Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors, a dozen such wheeled giants stand against the skyline.

Some of the largest, up to now, are two on Pier Y, Long Beach, each of which can lift 27-ton loads, and the Matson crane, in Los Angeles Harbor's East Basin slip, which lifts 25 tons.

By far the biggest will be the newcomer, a $1,135,235 gantry crane being erected on a new wharf of Los Angeles Harbor's West Basin, beside Wilmington-San Pedro Road.

The new giant will be able to reach 115 feet from its stiff-legged perch on oversized railroad tracks, and to lift and swing loads of almost 50 tons.

By Sept. 16—if all goes well—the big crane and all the rest of a $5.5-million terminal for handling container cargoes will be dedicated.

Week's Wall Street Trend

By ED MORSE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Resistance to further decline was gathering in the stock market the past week, but the list took its fourth straight weekly loss. By 1968 standards, trading was very light, the 39,796,102 shares traded compared with 45,429,000 the previous week. Both were four day weeks in the market due to Wednesday closings for catchup on the paper-work day.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a minor loss of 1.62 to $80.63.

This put it virtually at the 870 line which more analysts regard as a support area which, if broken would lead to a test of the 850 line.

"During the last few days, helped by an improved technical structure, the market has attempted to firm up and, perhaps, build a floor around the 870s," said Eugene E. Perini, vice president of McDonnell & Co. "It is, of course, much too soon to consider the decline ended. It is certain to be 'tested' in the days ahead."

"Violation of the 870 area would probably put the Dow industrial average back into its drifting phase toward the 850 area," said Bache & Co.

The big brokerage house took cognizance of the events at the Republican National Convention, saying: "It is difficult to assess to what degree the Republican ticket of Nixon-Agnew influenced the market, but there must have been some disappointment over the failure of Gov. Rockefeller to make a better showing."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 1.3 to 326.0.

The market posted a fair gain Monday as brokers saw the list rallying from an oversold condition. Concern over the steel price situation overhanging Wall Street, however, and depressed the steel stocks.

The market continued to advance Tuesday, and it looked as if the market had found some support above the 870 line in the Dow.

The rally continued about halfway through Thursday in a lively session, following the Wednesday lull. Thursday's volume of 12.92 million was the highest of the week, but it was the lightest of any of the current series of nine sessions following a market recess.

At the close Thursday the market had a fairly sharp loss.

Friday was very dull most of the day but was enlivened by a late rally of glamor stocks which pared losses.

Up again... down again. No real progress is expected soon. The shorter-term outlook is for more backing and filling at current levels. The more the better. Consolidation would provide the technical basis needed to expect and predict more than a minor upturn in prices.

The over-all picture is still quite oversold. This should continue to limit any downturn in prices over the near term. There has been no change in our downside objective of $50-$60. Therefore, since no more than a minor dip can be expected, any sharp pullback should provide a buying opportunity for the more aggressive traders.

INSTITUTIONAL activity has slowed considerably. The amount of big selling has declined while the amount of big buying has remained the same. This indicates a slight but yet significant improvement. Among the stocks under significant accumulation last week which are regarded favorably on a technical basis are: Great Western Financial, Imperial Corp. of America, Anchor-Hocking, Montgomery Ward.

Among the stocks under significant distribution last week which are regarded unfavorably are: General Motors, Reynolds Metals, United Airlines, General Electric.

Groups with the most favorable outlook over the near to medium term: savings and loan, banks and office and business equipment (as trading vehicles). Groups with the least favorable outlook over the near to medium term: steels, chemicals, sulphur, aluminum, mining composite.

SAVINGS AND LOAN issues have shown particular relative strength, as the entire group has moved up sharply. The more recent upturn has carried the stock out of broad base formation on significant accumulation. Therefore, still higher levels are expected. The more attractive issues at current levels are Great Western Financial, Imperial Corp. of America, First Charter Financial.

Banks have been under heavy accumulation. They have experienced very little pressure during this decline, and are expected to resume their impressive uptrend pattern following a period of consolidation.

Office and business equipment group has turned down in a near-term downtrend. However, the over-all outlook is still very positive, and thus this group should provide good trading opportunities following periods of market weakness.

AIRLINE INCREASES CALIFORNIA FLIGHTS

Air California will increase its schedule to a total of 51 daily flights between Orange County Airport and northern California Bay Area points, starting today.

Included will be the inauguration of six daily nonstop flights between Orange County and Oakland, according to Dudley Miller, Air California vice president-marketing.

San Francisco will be served by 17 nonstop DC-9 flights; San Jose by 18 Electra nonstop flights and Oakland by 16 Electra flights, including the six direct flights.

Extra flights will be scheduled on Fridays and Sundays to accommodate weekend travelers during peak hours on those days.

The new schedules will remain in effect through the remainder of summer vacation and post-Labor Day periods.

Gardner Funeral Slated

Funeral services were to be conducted at 11 a.m. today for James Michael Gardner, Long Beach City College student who was slain early Wednesday by a gunman still at large.

Rev. William Mayo was to officiate at rites in the Church of the Messiah, Santa Ana. Interment will follow at Fairhaven Cemetery.

Services were delayed until the victim's brother could be returned to the Southland from Vietnam, where he is serving with the U.S. Navy.

Gardner, 21, was shot to death on or near the San Diego Freeway as he rode his motorcycle towards his home in Santa Ana.

Rites Today for Judge

D. E. Dunbar

Requiem Mass was scheduled at 9 a.m. today in Our Lady of Victory Church, Compton, for Superior Court Judge Donald E. Dunbar, 50, who died at his home early Thursday.

Burial was to follow in All Souls Cemetery, Long Beach, according to Neel Funeral Directors Inc.

The jurist, who resided at 1610 Tartar Lane in Compton, apparently died in his sleep of natural causes, according to police investigators.

Lomita Woman Dies of Injuries After Collision

A 72-year-old Lomita woman, injured Wednesday in a traffic accident at Palos Verdes Drive North and Anaheim Street in Wilmington, had died in a Bellflower hospital.

Harbor Division police identified her as Pearl E. Harbour, of 1742 260th St.

Officers said the victim was riding in a small, three-wheeled vehicle which collided with an auto driven by Robert Sak, 17, of 1965 Avenida Feliciano, Rolling Hills Estates, who suffered lesser injuries.

Name Chamber Unit Chairmen

Long Beach Chamber of Commerce President John Barrett named three new chairmen Friday to head Leadership Development, Publications-Communications and Construction Industries committee posts.

Harry Krusz, executive director of the Willows Foundation, heads a task force on Leadership Development; Lee Rippetue, public relations administrator for General Telephone Co., will head the Publications Committee, and Robert Hall, vice president of Southland Heating and Air Conditioning Co., leads the Construction Committee.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

One of the main reasons your azalea foliage may not look firm and green is lack of sufficient water, even though you could be watering them every day! Loosely packed organic material that the azaleas were planted in simply doesn't retain enough moisture to give the the rubbish-garbage smell.

This isn't exactly a garden hint, nonetheless we do fill our rubbish cans with leaves, damp grass clippings and trimmings along with the garbage.

WE HAVE heard several other beneficial results from use of moth balls other than their specific in-in the dichondra.

A dog owner reported her dog became involved with a skunk. She remembered an old formula and it works. The dog was doused with tomato juice then bathed with soap and water. Supposedly diluted ketchup kills the skunk odor, too.

DO IT NOW

● FEED: Lawns, ground covers, camellias, azaleas, newly set out annuals and perennials, shrubs, trees, new lawns after their first mowing. (Soil must be moist before feeding. Lawns and ground-cover foliage should be dry.) Water well after feeding.

● SPRAY: Plants attacked by sap-sucking insects such as aphids, leaf hoppers, white flies, thrips and spider mites. Use insecticide that lists such pests. Scale are sap-sucking pests found on citrus, gardenias, camellias, oleanders and other plants as listed on the spray label; use horticultural oil emulsion spray. (Don't spray unless temperature is below 85 degrees.) Leaf-chewing pests should be sprayed with stomach-type spray your nurseryman recommends.

roots thirst-quenching drinks.

Here's how you'll quickly find out whether the plants get enough water. Turn the hose on about 25 per cent water-pressure strong. If the water continues to quickly disappear into the planting medium, you know you have a job on your hands.

That job is to firmly pack the sphagnum peat moss, or the organic mixture, or the azalea planter mix you set those plants in. The only way you'll thoroughly pack the material is by firming it with your fingers. Probably you'll have to add more of this organic material to build it up to the level of the surrounding ground.

DOUBLE-CHECK your job by watering the plants again. If you see water standing on the top before it gradually soaks in, you've done an excellent job. Now those azaleas are going to get enough water throughout the root-ball area.

Half brown to yellow leaves usually means a possible alkali salt buildup in the roots area. One of the "irons" in powder form or liquid form, or a liquid iron, either one diluted in water and watered in around the plants, helps to correct alkali conditions.

Three applications at six-week intervals, two basin fillings constituting an application, will help the plants.

IT IS interesting how and where we sometimes learn about a helpful garden hint. When the rubbish collectors' strike was on in Santa Monica, a lady ahead of me at a supermarket noticed I had a small package. She graciously invited me to go ahead of her because she had a number of items in her shopping cart.

In commenting about a possible local rubbish collectors' sympathy strike, she showed me a package of moth balls she was purchasing. She thought she probably wouldn't have to worry if her rubbish-garbage piled up in case of a strike, because she drops a couple of moth balls in her 50-gallon rubbish drums. The moth balls odor kills tended use. A homeowner told us a friend of his was bothered by skunks getting in under their house. Periodic scatterings of moth balls kept the skunks away.

We wouldn't recommend you scatter moth balls over your dichondra lawn to discourage skunks from rooting up your dichondra, or your neighbor doing the same. It is cutworms or caterpillar-like worms that attract the skunks which root them out to eat them. Use an insecticide spray that kills those pests in order to get rid of them, and there'll be no more skunks rooting

Q. I have a ficus retusa tree, 20 feet spread and 20 feet high, trunk 8 inches diameter. I'd like to cut it drastically back to about 12 feet across and 15 feet high. This will leave very few branches with leaves on them. Can this be done without permanently damaging the tree? If now is not a good time to prune it back, when do you recommend doing it? J.A. Porter

A. Best time is from mid-March through early May. If tree is bothersome and you need to do it soon, then do it right away, because you live near the coast. I doubt that a starch the flow of milky sap. Apply the pruning compound soon as the sap stops. (Would hesitate to recommend such pruning compound used to seal larger cuts will at first drastic pruning this time of the year in hot, dry areas.)

Q. I'd like to know how to raise two orchid plants in pots. Each has three large clumps high above the pots. The leaves turn brown on the tips. Also, there are clumps that never get any leaves on them. Should the clumps be covered with soil or are they supposed to be exposed like that? The pot plants never bloom nor do anything. Do they need plant food? Mrs. Eva Teager

A. Your description aptly fits cymbidium orchids. The pots are overgrown with fat bulbs. Take the plants out of the pots. Separate the leafless bulbs from the plants. Replant the rooted leafy clumps in a special prepared mixture your nurseryman recommends. Two weeks later feed them a liquid fertilizer. Use three-fourths less amount of the fertilizer as recommended on the bottle label, dilute in specific amount of water. Feed the plants thusly at two-week intervals through latter part of October. Put the leafless bulbs in a plastic sack, bulb bottoms down. Hang the sack up in shady part of garage. Plant them in individual pots when they have sprouted several inches of new root growth.

Construction Rises in Downey

The valuation of building permits issue by the Downey Department of Building and Safety during July totaled $1,026,598, raising the total for the 968 calendar year to $10.5 million, Ray Lake, director, said Friday.

Valuation of permits issued for the same period in 1967 was $6.9 million.

The 1968 permits call for construction of 66 residential units, 14 residential structures and 17 swimming pools, Lake reported.

It makes time other small cars shouldn't make.

Where traffic's heavy but rolling, and trucks are throwing their weight around, it's not the ideal place for small cars to make time. But the SAAB 900 is no ordinary small car. It is out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves, and other drivers' mistakes. (Most ordinary small cars don't give, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features.)

As an optional extra, our LIFETIME GUARANTEE. Unusual overseas plan: Free shipment from Sweden to P.O.E. East Coast.

BROUGHT DWINDLING OLD CHURCH BACK TO LIFE

Oldsters Run L.B.'s Senior Church Their Own Lively, Successful Way

By LES RODNEY

Perhaps the most impressive tribute to Long Beach's "Senior Citizens Church" is the fact that six men and women have already moved to Long Beach from other areas for the express purpose of enjoying the unique church's programs.

Little Moore Memorial Methodist Church at 515 E. Third St. was at the point of death, relates the pastor, Dr. H. M. Eagleson, with only 20 or 30 coming to services, when the grand idea was born.

A church for oldsters — run by the oldsters themselves in the way they wanted it — not in the way others think senior members of the human race are. In other words, yes, taking into account the fact that they are getting along in years (what's wrong with THAT?) but also that they remain essentially the same lively, life-loving people they always were.

The humming little church, which was recently repainted inside as a gesture of love by a group of youngsters, is now a swinging non-denominational place. And nothing provincial about it.

AT ALMOST any service, there will be people from a majority of the states of the union. At one gathering, the pastor recently noted men who came here from Norway, Denmark, France, Ireland, Scotland and the Philippines.

Similar variety can be found in the past occupations and experiences of the parishioners. Last week, for example, there was a cotton salesman from New Orleans, the cook on the Alaskan railroad, and a survivor of the Bataan Death March.

It is hard to pick out any one thing, says Dr. Eagleson, and to say "THIS is what has made us one of the fastest growing churches in town."

But he puts a high priority on the church's official board.

"These are all senior citizens themselves," he explains, "hence know how to do things the way oldsters prefer. These are the men and women who had the vision, to start with, to organize this group and bring this church to life."

One big drawing card is the Tuesday "Fun Party," which now draws 75 or more frolickers each Tuesday afternoon. There's a variety stunt and musical program, generous refreshments, then shuffleboard and other games. An effort is made to introduce newcomers to Long Beach, and to help them meet new friends. "They like that," comments Dr. Eagleson, the author of several highly praised inspirational books.

ganist and choral director, with Connie Spaulding a assistant. A recording of their songs will be on sale soon.

Then there's the Saturday Night Club for Singles, with parties, dinners and other social affairs.

"This group corresponds to the youth fellowship in other churches," suggests Dr. Eagleson. "Those in charge must know their stuff, because there are wedding bells every now and then for couples whose paths crossed at the Saturday night club."

Another novelty is the free bus service provided to bring those to Sunday services who would not be able to walk it, and have no convenient transportation. They transport several dozen folks and are willing to pick up more.

PERHAPS THE most unique feature of all concerns something that is missing at this church. No request for money is ever made, and money is never mentioned at its services.

Says the preacher with a typical twinkling smile: "The hills are always paid by someone, somehow, I don't always know how. Maybe God looks out for oldsters in a little special way."

Presbyterians to Hold 2nd Fun Night at Bowl

United Presbyterians throughout the Southland are being urged to be "numbered among those present" at the sixth annual Presbyterian Night at the Hollywood Bowl, Aug. 30, for the second of two "Fun for Funds" events being staged for the benefit of the 10 neighborhood houses and community centers the church operates in three Southern California counties.

Last month more than 2100 Presbyterians and their friends, attended a benefit ball game at Dodger Stadium, reports R. D. "Bob" Roberts, Beverly Hills layman who is heading up the dual projects for the sixth consecutive year.

"More than 135 individual churches are currently carrying on ticket campaigns for the Bowl event," Roberts said, "and we are anticipating some ten or twelve thousand on hand for an evening of music next month."

CONFIDENT LIVING

Any Human Being Can Be Success

By NORMAN VINCENT
PEALE

A New York man heard me on radio stressing the belief that any human being can become a successful person if he makes up his mind to do so. This man's experience had given him the same conviction and his letter is worth sharing.

He writes: "Thirty years ago, before World War II, I was a sickly, unemployable married man with three children. For a time we live on home relief. Then one day I made up my mind that if my family was to grow with pride and dignity I would have to make a move fast toward self help. I went to work in a government arsenal." Apparently he ceased to be unemployable as soon as he changed his thinking. And apparently he also got over being sickly, for he makes no further mention of it.

"After a year I enlisted in the U.S. Navy Seabees and spent almost three years in the Pacific theatre of war. While there I wrote to William Green, president of the A. F. of L. I asked to be accepted as a member of the sign painters union in New York." This, it seems, had long been his ambition but there were obstacles. "I had tried to join," he says, "but could not afford the initiation fee, nor had I helpful references. Besides, with my Spanish name I had had little opportunity to demonstrate my ability to perform as a skilled sign man."

"WELL, NOT only did Mr. Green write me a nice letter of promise—the executive secretary of the New York City union also wrote, asking me to come and see him when I returned to the States. Was I happy? I only hoped I might live to get there."

"I did, thanks to the Lord. The day after I got back my wife asked me,

Church to Launch Day Nursery

St. Timothy Lutheran Church at 5840 Arbor Road, will open the first Christian day nursery in the city of Lakewood, on Sept. 9th.

The nursery will be open from 9-11:45 a.m., Monday through Friday of the normal public school year. Facilities and a teaching staff have been licensed by the Department of Social Welfare and the City of Lakewood.

Interested parents of youngsters 2 yrs. 9 mo. through 4 are asked to call the church. Enrollment is not restricted to members of St. Timothy Church.

VIET RELIEF DIRECTOR HERE

Larry Ward, executive vice president of World Vision International, who for the past three years has directed the refugee relief program in Vietnam, will speak Sunday, 7:30 p.m. "under the stars" at the drive-in church, El Dorado Park Community, 3655 Norwalk Blvd. Former editor of Christian Life and Christianity Today and head of the Evangelical Press Assn., Ward has toured 50 countries in newsgathering and photo journalism, has authored two novels.

Memorial 'Grad' to Chaplain Fla. Hospital

Rev. Harold Denhart, who completes his second year of specialized training in Memorial Hospital pastoral care department this month, has been named to organize and head a chaplaincy program at a major East Coast hospital.

Chaplain Denhart said that he has been asked by the 554-bed Broward General Hospital of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to establish a chaplaincy program similar to the one he has studied at Memorial.

The minister took a one-year internship and a one-year residency in pastoral care at Memorial. Last November, a paper he authored on "A United Approach to Mental Health" was selected for presentation before the annual conference of the World Federation of Mental Health in Lima, Peru.

Chaplain Denhart, 37, holds a bachelor of arts and a bachelor of divinity degree. He came to Long Beach after serving in pastoral roles in Pennsylvania and Ohio churches.

He and his wife, Shirley, and their sons, David, 11 and Bruce, 9, have resided at 2720 Golden Ave. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Denhart of Santa Ana.

'Army' Sets 11th L.B. Camp Meet

Evangelism Featured in Auditorium

"Christ is Still the Answer" will theme The Salvation Army's 11th annual Long Beach Camp Meetings, sponsored by the Southern California Division and scheduled from Aug. 17 through Aug. 25 at Municipal Auditorium, according to Brig. Orval A. Taylor, divisional commander.

Evangelistic meetings will be held nightly at 7:30 and afternoon prayer meetings are slated for 2 p.m. on weekdays and 3 p.m. on Sundays. Bible Study will be conducted during the week at 3 p.m. All of these activities are open to the public.

To add to the color and inspiration, each day will include music by Salvation Army bands, soloists and songsters.

Leaders of national and international renown will take part. Commissioner Clarence D. Wiseman, Territorial Commander for Canada and Bermuda will be the speaker for the first weekend. Prof. Lee Fisher, psychologist, minister of the Gospel and faculty member at Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky., will conduct the evangelistic and prayer meetings during the week, as well as the daily Bible study.

On the final weekend, Aug. 24 and 25, the speaker will be Gen. Frederick Coutts of London, England, International Leader of The Salvation Army, in his first Southern California appearance.

Other top Salvationists who will be present are Commissioner Samuel Hepburn of New York City, national commander of The Salvation Army, and Lt. Commissioner William J. Parkins, of San Francisco, Western territorial commander, who initiated the camp meetings in 1958.

Since the meetings began here, estimated Brig. Taylor, attendance has gone over the quarter of a million mark.

"People," he said, "have come from all parts of the Southland to share in the blessings of the meetings, returning home to an invigorated experience in Christian service."

"The enrichment of individual experiences, evidenced in spiritual rebirth, growth and progress, is the most important of the many by-products of this vital evangelistic expression," he added. "The Long Beach Camp Meetings have been and will continue to be an adventure in faith—an adventure in Christian outreach."

Confirm 6,000 a Day Starving

Direct word from inside blockaded Biafra estimates daily starvation deaths at 6,000. Several weeks previously the daily death rate was between two to three thousand.

Confirmation of mass starvation fatalities was relayed to James MacCracken, executive director of Church World Service, by Dr. H. W. Middelkoop, a World Council of Churches representative, who heads the Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Umuahia, Biafra. The 13,000,000 Biafrans, mostly Christian Ibos, are completely surrounded by Nigerian Federal forces.

FROM THE PULPIT

Hundreds of exhortations have been written to the believer telling him how to live, but none telling the believer how to have life. Why? Because the believer HAS life. "He that believeth on me hath everlasting life." (John 6:47)

No apostle ever wrote an epistle telling believers what to do to be saved or what to do to have life. They did write to them that they might KNOW that they have eternal life, or that they might have assurance and joy that comes from life.

Without faith it is impossible to please God. Faith comes by hearing. Come and hear the Word of God at Calvary this Sunday.

BIAFRA CHILDREN line up for emergency rations rushed by churches. Desperate situation is reported from blockaded area, with starvation increasing.

CHILDREN DYING

Faiths Unite for Biafrans to Rush Aid

NEW YORK (AP) — "For God's sake please airlift more baby food immediately. Thousands of children are dying daily. Situation appalling."

The cablegram from a Catholic missionary priest this week, citing the desperation in the blockaded Biafra region of embattled Nigeria, was part of a dramatic, mounting interfaith operation to check mass starvation there.

American Catholic and Protestant relief agencies joined their efforts in the emergency, and for the first time, major Jewish organizations pooled their resources to send aid through the Christian channels.

"It's an unprecedented common response," said Rabbi Marc Tanenbaum, an executive of the American Jewish Committee who has drawn most leading Jewish groups into concerted action to back the undertaking.

THROUGH BOTH Catholic Relief Services here and the interdenominational Protestant-Orthodox Church World Service, a rising tide of high-protein foods and medicines moved toward the region of crisis.

There were international complications, pressures and bottlenecks. But despite the difficulties, some church cargoes still were getting through, with indications of a bigger flow.

"Thank God for what Christian bodies are doing," said an American United Nations official. "Without them the consequences would be even more ghastly."

In the tangle of restrictions and civil war, the religious relief effort took on the covert, perilous quality of underground border running — by night flights. Church officials said five planes have been lost, either crashed or shot down.

Relief flights from the World Council of Churches storehouses at the off-coast Spanish island of Fernando last week were blocked by Spanish authorities, but they continued from Catholic depots on the Portuguese island of Sao Tomo.

This week, Rev. Anthony Byrne, a long-time Irish Catholic missionary in Biafra now in charge of emergency airlifts out of Sao Tomo, cabled that he had assurance church airlifts could be stepped up to four flights each night.

MEANWHILE, a roundabout telephone message received here from Dr. H. J. Middelkoop, a World Council physician at Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Biafra, said the number dying daily had increased from 2,000 two weeks ago to 6,000 a day now.

Religious groups — Protestant, Catholic and Jewish — joined in appeals to President Johnson and congressional leaders to provide helicopter food airlifts to both sides in the struggle. The religion officials also scheduled meetings with Secretary of State Dean Rusk about it, noting that their relief efforts could scarcely dent the enormous starvation devastating the war-blocked region.

Amid the tightening blockade, a Church World Service spokesman said: "The irony of it is that we've got food galore" stored along the perimeter of Nigeria, but can't get in. We're blocked off, even our sneak flights."

Catholic and Protestant organizations joined this week in providing recorded appeals for contributions to about 4,300 radio stations across the country, and picture slides and appeals to about 600 television stations.

BRIEFLY . . .

New Bible Translation Aims at Full Acceptance

Some 100 Bible scholars, working under sponsorship of the 158-year-old New York Bible society, have begun a new translation of Scriptures. Why another one?

Says the committee, which includes Dr. Carl F. H. Henry of Christianity Today, and Dr. David Hubbard of Fuller Theological Seminary, none of the many translations has achieved anywhere near universal acceptance.

"Only with one version in common use in our churches will Bible memorization flourish," they say, "and will Bible teachers be able to interpret with maximum success the Biblical text word by word and phrase by phrase to their students. We acknowledge freely that there are benefits to be derived by the individual as he refers to other translations in his study of the Bible, but this could still be done in situations in which a common Bible was in general use."

Says Dr. Burton L. Goddard, one of the scholars: "This will not be a revision of another version, but a fresh translation from the original Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek texts. The translators will have available to them not only the old texts but such new archeological findings as the Dead Sea scrolls and other source material."

Emphasized aim will be to have a faithful translation, representing as clearly as possible only what the original says and not "injecting additional elements by unwarranted paraphrasing."

It will simultaneously seek to employ language which will communicate with the average man, and at the same time will be literary in quality — in brief, to do for our day that which the King James version did for its day.

Twenty teams of five scholars are active, each working on one section of the Scripture. Each team consists of two translators, two translating consultants and an English stylist. This will be only the beginning of a lengthy system of checking, criticism, and re-checking. At several junctures criticism will be invited from outside scholars, not confined to Protestants, or even Christians, says Dr. Goddard.

First portion of the new translation, the Gospel of John, is expected to be ready for publication in the fall of 1969. The entire New Testament may take more than three years to complete.

view for July-August reprints from these pages a story about the Galilee Navy Family Chapel over on the West Side.

ONE LONG-RANGE result of Pope Paul's controversial encyclical on birth control, it is predicted, will be pressure by church liberals for the election of a non-Italian as the next pope.

Some of the liberals, including Italians, have expressed the opinion that the ban on modern birth control methods may remain unchanged so long as the pope comes from Italy, where the clerics tend to conservatism on such questions.

The liberal movement is strongest in Holland, Belgium, Germany and France. There has been recurrent talk of an American pope, with the late Cardinal Spellman of New York having been prominent in the speculation at one point. However, many cardinals feel that an American would not be acceptable because they do not want to see the papacy so closely identified with a great world power in the midst of so many international disputes.

This, they feel, could compromise what Pope John XXIII termed the "supranational neutrality" of the papacy.

Ironically, it is precisely the internationalization of the College of Cardinals carried forward by Pope Paul that may make the future election of a non-Italian pope more possible.

'PART TIME PRIESTS' SEEN AS SOLUTION

To relieve its growing clergy shortage, the Catholic Church may have to make a place in its structure for part-time priests who earn their living in secular jobs.

Su says Msgr. George A. Schlichte, rector of the Pope John XXIII Seminary at Weston, Mass. The seminary, founded in 1964, is a national center for training of men with "delayed vocations" — that is, men who feel called to the priesthood after being established in other professions.

Msgr. Schlichte believes there are a great many "mature, intelligent" men who would make excellent part-time priests if given the chance.

All that's needed, he says, is for the church to "adjust its structures" to make room for them. The adjustments might have to include relaxation of the celibacy rule, he notes, since many of them already

Right now the Italians, who were for some time a majority in the Sacred College, number only 36 of the 106 cardinals.

Last non-Italian to hold the papacy was Adrian VI, of Holland, in 1522-23.

THOSE WHO favor involvement by the church in the social and moral issues of the world would be hard put to find more eloquent words for their case than these by author Alan Paton: "Love without justice is a Christian impossibility, and can only be practiced by those who have divorced religion from life, who dismiss a concern for justice as politics, and who fear social change more than they fear God." . . . Les Rodney.

Despite Cherished Myths, Religious Freedom Didn't Always Flourish Here

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International

Our forefathers came to this country seeking religious liberty and set up a system of government under which church and state are strictly separated and every man is free to worship as he pleases.

Do you agree with that statement? Most Americans would. It's a capsule expression of one of our most cherished national myths.

It's bad history on two

L.A. Theater

Ticket Tax Constitutional

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles County's 10-per-cent ticket tax for theatrical performances in County-owned facilities today was ruled constitutional in superior court.

Judge Robert S. Thompson rejected a suit brought by Allen Tinkley and Louis R. Robins, producers of summer events at the Hollywood Bowl.

The suit claimed the tax was discriminatory since it exempted some classical performances at the Music Center until last April 27. The tax now applies to all productions.

The tax was adopted by the Board of Supervisors Sept. 12, 1967, but it did not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1968.

The exemptions were granted, the ordinance said, so as not to create "ill will toward the county and the music center."

CHURCH HUMOR

grounds. First, it attributes to all early settlers of America a motive that was dominant for only a small minority. More serious, it falsely implies that religious freedom and its necessary precondition, church-state separation, have always existed in America.

Actually, religious freedom was a late-blooming flower on the tree of American democracy. Except in a few islands of enlightenment, such as Quaker Pennsylvania and Baptist Rhode Island, colonial America made free use of government coercion to compel religious conformity.

IN VIRGINIA, a law enacted in 1611 required every resident of the colony to "give an account of his faith" upon demand. If the account failed to satisfy the local Anglican minister, he could require the miscreant to attend religious instruction classes.

Massachusetts in 1644 made it a crime, punishable by banishment, to be a Baptist.

Even after the era of state churches finally came to a close, legislatures and courts continued to give favored treatment to the Christian religion as opposed to all other faiths.

In 1889, the Supreme Court upheld the right of Congress to dissolve the charter of the Mormon Church because Mormons practiced polygamy which, the court said, was "contrary to the spirit of Christianity and the spirit which Christianity has produced in the Western world."

And this sort of thing continued right on into the 20th century. A review of state court decisions in Liberty, a Seventh-day Adventist magazine, includes these examples:

—In 1921, the Supreme Court of Maine upheld a law making it a crime to speak contemptuously of "God, Jesus Christ, the Holy Ghost or the Holy Scriptures."

—In 1927, the Minnesota Supreme Court upheld compulsory Bible readings in public schools on the ground that "this government was founded on the principles of Christianity."

"THE 'CHRISTIAN' portion of our courts — the time during which decisions were based on Christian principles — extend up to the mid-20th century," concludes the Liberty article.

"In the 1960s came the series of Supreme Court decisions which marked the decline of general court support for orthodox Christianity."

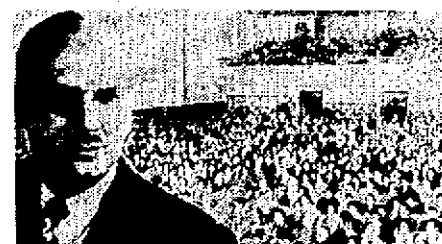

Even now, some state and local courts ignore the Supreme Court's view that it's unconstitutional for an agency of government to give special recognition or favored treatment to the Christian religion.

Only last week, a man named Irvin West was sentenced to a 30-day prison term in Westminster, Md., for "taking the Lord's name in vain in a public place."

Life With TV in New Zealand

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Now that the GOP convention is over, we can get back to the reruns. And in this connection, Mrs. Ernest Allie of Long Beach has sent along a New Zealand TV publication and circled one of the letters to the editor.

"I have four children (goes the letter) who constantly watched TV whenever they were able before bed time, but who don't bother any more because of the many repeats. Why, then, should I pay for a TV license this year when we are getting last year's programmes over again? We only watch the Weather and News now, simply because that can't be repeated."

(Signed)
Unsatisfied, Dunedin.

Mrs. Allie suggests that "if we had to pay for a TV license each year, we might have reason to complain of the repeats."

TELEVISION fans are pretty much the same all over the world, judging from the letters in the New Zealand publication. You might be interested in one more.

"Would it be possible for WNTV to stop screening such old-fashioned films on Friday and Saturday nights

... Most of the films are from the 1930-47 era. I, and many of my friends, would prefer an 'Elvis' Presley Season."

(Signed)
Mini-Blas, Urenui

I FIND it interesting that this common bond of TV Fan fellowship exists around the world where television exists.

Of course, the reaction of the New Zealander to U.S. TV shows which are a mainstay of their viewing is not always what I should call "politic."

For instance, I would think twice about writing about "Star Trek" the way a guest critic, J. C. Reid of Auckland, does:

"'Star Trek' is old hat. Well made, and with a pleasing gimmick in Mr. Spock's ears; it suffers from one of the surliest and least appealing heroes, William Shatner, from common place space-opera storylines and the old Americans can-do-it-better syndrome. Actually, there's not much wrong with the show that decent plots and grown-up dialogue wouldn't cure."

"But the 'Star Trek' crew all take themselves far too seriously... With Captain Kirk and his clean-cut fellows, you feel that, out there in the galaxies, the honour of Uncle Sam is too much at stake among those un-American aliens for anyone to crack a joke... TV space-opera will have to latch on to a little more intelligence and originality if it is not to lose true science-fiction addicts for good and all."

I'M NOT sure that this is the way to go about winning a Democratic Party presidential nomination, but Hubert Humphrey is more of a political pro than I am and maybe it all helps.

Anyway he's going to show up on "It's Happening" at 1:30 p.m., Monday, Ch. 7.

The teen-agers gave him a "standing ovation," according to a press release, and Mark Lindsay, who co-hosts with Paul Revere, commented on the conservative suit and tie the vice president was wearing, as contrasted with Mark's outfit — a green Nehru coat with matching pants.

"Maybe some day the vice president will be wearing an outfit like that," said Humphrey. He answers questions from the audience about the draft (it's unfair; should be a lottery system where draftees are chosen at random); a lower voting age (he's for it) and the generation gap (it exists, but it's not new. "It's just that now people do more shouting than talking").

Fires Under Control

UKIAH (UPI) — All but one of the approximately 325 lightning fires that hit state and federal land early Thursday as a result of electrical storms are under control, according to Forest Service spokesmen.

The remaining uncontrolled fire, near Garberville, was expected to be under control by late Friday.

HARBOR CHEVROLET

A great deal of psychology is needed to run a penal institution, so in this regard a certain warden was highly qualified. He invariably made decisions after having attempted to visualize himself in the other person's circumstances, and won the respect of the most hardened of prison habitués.

Knowing how surly a prisoner can become after lengthy confinement; he never assigned 2 men to a cell until after he was sure their personalities would not conflict, thereby avoiding troubles that eventually lead to riot.

One day a young man was ushered into a cell he was to share with a case-hardened criminal whose very first question was, "How long are you in for?" When the new arrival nervously answered, "Twenty years!" the grizzled old con rasped, "I'm in for thirty—so in that case take the bunk by the door—'cuz you'll be gettin' out first!"

Versalles' 23rd Error Beats Osteen

By GEORGE LEDERER
Staff Writer

On his 29th birthday, Claude Osteen said he had had it, and he didn't mean the cake.

Osteen didn't spare the words for shortstop Zoilo Versalles, whose error on a double-play grounder turned a 2-1 Dodger lead into a 3-2 victory for the Phillies Friday night.

Osteen took the loss, his 17th, to tie the club record for a season, which he shared previously with Don Drysdale. He admitted "this was the worst stuff I've had in my last 10 starts, but it was still good enough to play in the game if he makes the play."

"He" was Versalles, although Osteen never mentioned his name.

"I'm sick and tired of pitching under these conditions," said Osteen. "I don't mean the lack of runs. Heck, I'm accustomed to that. But I'm not used to having it thrown away time after time."

"This was his 23rd error and that's my uniform number. He came over to me and said 'I'm sorry,' but that stuff gets tiresome, too. Some kind of birthday."

Osteen was working on a three-hitter and, thanks to Ken Boyer's first-inning home run, carried a 2-1 advantage into the seventh inning. Roberto Pena singled to start it. Then came Versalles' muffed Richie Allen's double play ball.

When Osteen walked Don Lock to fill the bases, Walter Alston called Jim Brewer from the bullpen and Rick Joseph blooped a single to left for the 3-2 edge.

"If he makes the play," said Osteen, "it's a different situation and I certainly don't walk Lock."

Although Osteen leads the league in losses and is second to Juan Marichal in hits allowed (Osteen has given up 195), he deserves better than an 8-17 record. He has been charged with more unearned runs (14) than any other member of the Dodger staff.

Joseph, a 29-year-old utility man in his first full major league season, drove in all the Phillies' runs, half as many as he had driven in in 40 previous games. He homered in the fifth inning, his second of the year.

Joseph has 14 RBI in the National League and half of them are against the Dodgers. He hit a grand slam against Ron Perranoski to win a game in Philadelphia last September.

Friday's winner was Chris Short (11-11), who gave the Dodgers seven of their eight hits in seven innings. Short had to leave after he was hit on the left forearm by a Jack Billingham pitch to lead of the eighth inning.

Boyer's second home run as a Dodger came on his first swing after a 10-game absence because of a stiff neck and shoulder, the result of a collision with Bob Watson at Houston. He connected with two out in the first inning after a walk to Willie Davis.

The Dodgers muffed their best chance in the fourth inning when Bob Bailey and Ron Fairly singled and Paul Popovich doubled, and still they couldn't score. This was because Bailey was out attempting to steal second. After the double by Popovich, Jeff Torborg was walked intentionally and Osteen bounced into a double play.

DIS AND DATA — Mike Kekich (2-5) pitches tonight against Woody Fryman (11-11). It's Ladies Night and Hawaiian Night. A pre-game Hawaiian show, featuring dances, begins at 7:15 p.m. Ted Savage was in Friday's original lineup, but was scratched because of a pulled hamstring muscle still bothered him. Savage entered as a pinch-hitter for Brewer in the seventh and flied out. Osteen and Short met for the third time this season, each had won 2-0. Field attendance was 15,152, considerably better than the Dodgers' expected with competition from the Rams.

Birds' Weaver Still Spins Dreams of Catching Tigers

By FRED CLAIRE
Staff Writer

BALTIMORE — There's at least one man who believes the Baltimore Orioles can catch and pass the Detroit Tigers.

That man is Earl Weaver, who admits he's prejudiced on the subject of the American League pennant race.

Weaver is the man who replaced Hank Bauer as the manager of the Orioles on July 12th. Since that time the Orioles have had a record of 22-10, including Friday night's 3-0 win over the Angels.

The Orioles have won four games in a row and 10 of their last 12. They are only five games behind Detroit in the loss column after the Tigers' 5-3 defeat by Boston Friday night.

"We've got enough games left to catch Detroit," says Weaver, who is five days away from his 38th birthday.

"They have a good ball club but they know they can't let up. And they have only one real good starter — (Denny) McLain."

The Orioles were in third place and 10½ games behind the Tigers when Weaver replaced Bauer at the All-Star break.

"The biggest difference for us," says Weaver, "is that Boog (Powell) is finally starting to get some help from the other batters."

ANGEL OF DAY

None.

Frank (Robinson) has been hitting the ball real good.

And Don Buford has been just tremendous."

Robinson and Buford accounted for the three Orioles runs against the Angels and that was more than enough assistance for Dave McNally (15-8).

Robinson delivered a run scoring single off Bill Harrelson (0-3) in the third inning and Buford sent the Angel rookie out of the game with a two-run homer in the seventh.

Harrelson, in trouble most of the game, had issued two walks prior to Robinson's single, and gave up a single to rival pitcher McNally before Buford homered.

Robinson has hit .327 in his last 16 games (18-for-55). Buford, the ex-USC football and baseball star, has been outstanding for the Orioles since Weaver took over as manager.

He has hit .331 (40-for-121) since the All-Star break and has lifted his over-all average from .210 to a club-leading .286 mark. Buford has played five different positions, leads the club in stolen bases with 12 and has proved to be the ideal leadoff man.

"He just needed a chance to play," says Weaver. McNally's pitching has been even more sensational than Buford's play since the All-Star break. The 25-year old left-hander limited the Angels to four hits in beating them for the third time this season without a loss.

McNally has a 7-0 record to show for his eight starts since the All-Star game. And in the one game he didn't get a decision the Orioles won.

His 15 wins represent two more than his major league high, set in 1966 when the Orioles swept the Dodgers in the World Series. It was McNally who won the fourth game by a 1-0 score.

However, McNally slipped to a 7-7 record last season when he was bothered by an ailing elbow.

"The big difference this year is that I've developed a slider," says McNally, who lowered his earned run average to 1.83 in notching his 11th complete game.

"I had a real good slider when I was in the minors in 1962 but I've never been able to throw it in the majors until this year. In fact, I stopped trying. Then this spring I was just fooling around and the slider came back to me. I've been throwing it about 25 or 30 times a game. It's my best pitch."

If Dave McNally keeps going with his slider, and the Tigers run into a slide, the AL race could have an interesting ending.

The Orioles fans are hopeful. They still haven't taken down those signs in Baltimore proclaiming 1968 as "The Year of The Bird."

Blocked Punt in Last Minute Provides Win

By AL LARSON
Staff Writer

Dave Pivec blocked Don Cockroft's punt out of the end zone for a safety with 52 seconds left to cement the Rams' miracle, 23-21, comeback victory over Cleveland Friday night before 64,020 disbelieving Coliseum fans.

It was only a pre-season game, but you would have thought the Rams had won the World Championship after they wiped out a 21-7 deficit with less than four minutes to play.

Roman Gabriel's 16 and 33-yard touchdown strikes to Pat Studstill and Mike Dennis enabled coach George Allen's remarkable to even matters with 1:33 remaining.

Then came the explosive finish when the Rams pushed the Browns back to their own six-yard line and Pivec, a third-year tight end from Notre Dame, smothered Cockroft's kick. Fifty-two seconds later the Rams owned their 10th successive exhibition victory. Shades of Tony Guillory's heroics against Green Bay last year.

"It was Green Bay all over again," Allen said in the Ram dressing room which was surprisingly subdued. "I think this is the spark to carry us to the title. The nine-man rush was similar to what we used against Green Bay last year." Allen added, recalling Tony Guillory's final-minute heroics which enabled the Rams to pull out a 27-24 triumph. "Pivec justly deserved and received the game ball," Allen said.

Allen credited Eddie Meador's interception, which set up the Rams' tying touchdown, as the turning point.

"I felt when David Jones came on the field late in the game it gave us a lift. He'd asked me to play all night. Of course, he only wanted to go in on an obvious passing situation."

It was a night Ram partisans will long remember, provided they can wipe out the memories of the first 41 minutes of action.

Terrible things started to happen when fullback Les Josephson slipped coming out of the tunnel during pre-game introductions, injured his leg and spent the rest of the evening on the bench.

And it appeared they'd never stop happening as the Rams failed to register a first down during the first 36 minutes of play and didn't penetrate Browns' territory until four minutes were left in third quarter.

Just as in the Green Bay game last season when Travis Williams exploded 104 yards on a kickoff return, the Browns' insulted the Rams' special unit team as rookie Charles Leigh shot 94 yards untouched at the outset of the third period to give the Browns a 14-0 lead.

The Rams finally got untracked late in the third stanza, surging 60 yards in 11 plays. After maneuvering the club into scoring range on passes of 12 and 15 yards to Bernie Casey, Roman Gabriel pitched a four-yard TD bomb to Jeff Jordan, cutting Cleveland's lead to 14-7.

But Dr. Frank Ryan whipped the Browns 67 yards in a hurry, capped by a 40-yard touchdown strike to Gary Collins with 1:59 elapsed in the final quarter and the Browns again appeared headed for their first win over the Rams in their last five meetings.

But Gabriel and the entire Ram team entertained other ideas, including Dick Bass who didn't play, but merely watched.

"I figured once we tied the score we could block the punt and pull out the win," the Rams' all-time ground gainer said. Bass was one of four regulars who didn't play.

Cleveland coach Blanton Collier said "the interception and errors cost us the game. I know they didn't have Jones and Lundy, but whoever played in their spots would be good enough to play for anyone else." Gregg Schumacher and Dave Cahill were the defensive ends who performed so nobly in Collier's eyes.

"We came to play as many people as possible," Collier added.

Asked why he didn't use veteran Lou Groza on the two field goal attempts which Ram defensive back Irv Cross blocked, Collier said: "We know what he can do. I wanted to see what rookie Errol Mann could do under pressure."

The Brown headmaster also was questioned about his strategy to go for six points twice rather than settle for the safe 3-point field goal in the first half.

Each time the Rams held for downs, once on the 10 yard line when Leroy Kelly was smeared by Gene Green at the line of scrimmage and the next time when Ryan's fourth-down pass from the six-yard line fell incomplete in the end zone.

"We do it rather frequently. We play to win," he retorted.

The win did prove costly, however, as Casey went to the pits in the fourth quarter with a contusion of the left shoulder. Willie Ellison and George Burman sustained sprained right knees and Josephson's injury was diagnosed as a muscle tear in the left calf.

It's unknown how long the foursome will be out of action.

RACE FOR RICHES AT LOS ALAMITOS

A first in quarter horse racing takes place this evening when Los Alamitos stages the $111,300 Los Alamitos Derby at 440 yards.

This will mark the first time that a track has put up $100,000 for a quarter horse race. Usually in the rich futurities and derbies, the horsemen contribute most of the purse money through nomination fees.

All it costs the horsemen this time was $100 for nomination fees and $400 to enter the Derby Trials, which took place last week. The $11,300 over the $100,000 came through nomination and trial entry fees.

The previous high that a quarter horse track put up in way of purse money was $40,000, which Los Alamitos contributed for the Autumn Championship last fall.

Truly Night, which recorded the fastest qualifying time of 22.13 seconds in the Trials last week, rules the Derby choice, with the major contribution figuring to come from Top Rockette, Robin Ann Donland, Go Derussa Go and Barleo Rocket.

Other three-year-olds in the Derby field are Deb's Bar None, Go A Mite, Mark T. Bars, Winning Steak and Blobby Charger.

While most of the attention will be focused on the Derby, the supporting feature—$8,000 Miss Princess—finds eight allowance horses ready to clash at 400 yards.

Trish's Moon, which captured the $8,000 Double Bid July 27 in his only start of the meeting, tops the Miss Princess field. He'll have to pack 127 pounds, spotting the opposition from nine to 12 pounds.

A record crowd of 18,183 turned out for the races last Saturday, and track officials are expecting an attendance mark of 20,000 to pour through the gates tonight.

In a tight finish at the wire, Artillery captured the featured $8,000 Anna Dial Friday night at Los Alamitos before 12,847 spectators.

The two-year-old Winken Wayne colt was a head in front of Sweetie Bar Miss at the wire, with a nose back for third was Bar Bow Deck. Still another neck back for fourth was Sailor's Night.

Zack Collins rode the winner in 18.3 seconds for 350 yards, with Artillery, the second choice in the wagering, rewarding his backers with across-the-board payoffs of $7.80, $4.80 and $3.80. Sweetie Bar Miss paid $4.60 and $4, while the show price on Bar Bow Deck was $6.80.

Jockey John Watson and trainer Harley Graves combined forces for a double during the evening, the pair winning the second race with Vandy Oh (8.40) and the seventh with Chip Charge ($21.20).

Ronnie Banks reached a milestone by winning the sixth race with Ettabo ($5.60). The victory was his 400th win at Los Alamitos, with Charlie Smith the only rider to rank ahead of him on the all-time Los Alamitos standings, with 487.

Cincy Unloads on Cubs

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Pete Rose and Alex Johnson pounded out three hits apiece as the Cincinnati Reds, exploding for five runs in the third inning, routed the Chicago Cubs, 7-3, Friday night.

The Reds, trailing 2-1, rapped six consecutive hits to drive loser Ferguson Jenkins from the mound during the five-run third inning.

Rose touched off the uprising with one-out single to right, went to third on Johnson's single and scored on a single by Mack Jones. Lee May doubled home Johnson and Johnny Bench and Tony Perez followed with run-producing singles to chase Jenkins.

Tommy Helms' sacrifice fly drove in the final run of the inning.

Doubles by Rose and Johnson gave the Reds a run in the first inning.

The Cubs touched Bob Lee for two runs and eight hits before he departed in the third inning.

Jay Ritchie blanked the Cubs until the ninth when he gave way to Clay Carroll after a homer by Randy Hundley and a single by pinch-hitter Willie Smith.

Carroll preserved Ritchie's second win in three decisions.

Unearned Run Beats Cleveland

CHICAGO (UPI) — Pitcher Tommy John scored an unearned run in the fifth inning Friday night and then he and relievers Bob Locker and Hoyt Wilhelm protected that slim margin the rest of the way as the Chicago White Sox edged the Cleveland Indians, 1-0.

Walt Williams doubled in the only run of the game off loser Steve Hargan, who worked seven innings and suffered his 13th loss.

He allowed four hits but John singled with two out in the fifth and went to second when the ball skipped through Jose Cardenal's legs. Williams followed with his double.

John, Locker and Wilhelm combined on a four-hitter.

Locker took over with none out in the eighth after John hit pinch batter Lee Maye and gave up a single to Cardenal. Locker got pinch hitter Jimmie Hall on an outfield fly, Lou Johnson on a forceout and Tony Horton on a ground out to end the inning.

SLAMS TIGERS

Boston Registers Fifth Win in Row

DETROIT (UPI) — Joe Foy tagged John Wyatt for a grand slam homer with two out in the eighth inning Friday night to give the charging Boston Red Sox their fifth consecutive victory, an uphill 5-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

The third-place Red Sox, who have won nine of their last 10 games, moved within nine games of the league leading Tigers while second place Baltimore advanced to within 5½ games of Detroit.

Starter and loser Pat Dobson walked Dalton Jones with one out in the eighth and Carl Yastrzemski doubled before Wyatt replaced Dobson.

Wyatt retired Ken Harrelson for the second out of the inning but intentionally

McLain Remains Ahead of Lefty's

31-Victory Pace

BOSTON (UPI) — Denny McLain's 23rd victory Thursday night put him three days ahead of Lefty Grove's pace when he won 31 games in 1931, figures released by the American League office showed Friday.

The Detroit righthander is 23-3 with 20 complete games. When he compiled his 31-4 record, he hurled 27 complete games and had three one-run losses.

Grove won his 23rd game Aug. 11, 1931, and his 24th on the 15th of the month. He notched his 30th win Sept. 18.

2 Nitehawk Hurlers Pitch Perfect Game

By CHUCK MEDICK

Art Bunge and Norm Pfingsten combined in the first perfect games of the state softball tournament Friday night as the Long Beach Nitehawks beat the Santa Ana Rookies 2-0 at Pearson Park in Anaheim.

A near-capacity crowd saw Bunge strike out seven in his four innings of work while Pfingsten fanned three in the last three frames.

The Hawks scored off loser Carol Buckels when Bob Osborne singled and

Gibson Pitches 9th Shutout of Season

ATLANTA (UPI) — Bob Gibson scattered four hits and achieved his 13th successive victory with the help of Roger Maris' third-inning single Friday night as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Atlanta Braves 1-0.

It marked the 11th victory for the league-leading Cards over the Braves in 13 meetings this season.

Gibson, who has allowed only eight runs in his last 110 innings, picked up his 16th win against five losses. He struck out five, walked none and faced only 31 batters, four over the minimum, in posting his ninth shutout.

The fireballing righthander retired the first 10 batters he faced before hitting Marty Martinez singled to left. Felipe Alou, who ran his hitting streak to 14

The longest player holdout in Ram history officially ended Friday night when David Jones joined his teammates for the pre-season scrimmage with Cleveland at the Coliseum—one day after Jack Snow checked into camp.

No one was more pleased to see Jones and Snow in uniform than Ram president Dan Reeves. But he was quick to squelch the rumors that the Rams had made special deals to lure the players back into the fold.

"I am most pleased that Jack Snow and David Jones have decided to end their holdouts and join the rest of the team in its fight for the title."

"However I must clear up some reports that I have read and heard which do not give a totally accurate picture of the situation surrounding the Snow and Jones cases."

"It is a club policy not to make contract figures and details public. Those figures I have seen and heard to this point have been quite exaggerated in both cases (Snow was reported to have signed a two-year contract calling for $30,000 and Jones was offered $60,000).

"These exaggerations could be most damaging to our team. Morale and team spirit are more important in football than in almost any other sport and erroneous salary estimates on the part of any persons can severely damage that morale. I care deeply about this morale and resent careless statements by any player's legal representatives or advisors."

"Jack Snow accepted in total the offer we made two weeks ago."

"David Jones has returned to the team without any changes whatsoever in the contract he signed two years ago."

"Implications by anyone that offers of any kind were made to David to induce him to end his holdout are totally false," Reeves said.

St. Louis Pummels Steelers

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Jim Hart passed for two touchdowns, and Willis Crenshaw ran for one Friday night to give the St. Louis football Cardinals a 24-7 win over the Pittsburgh Steelers in a pre-season game.

Hart, starting his sophomore year as the Cardinals' number one quarterback, hit veteran Bobby Joe Conrad with a seven-yard scoring pass early in the second quarter after the Cardinals drove from their 43-yard line. Conrad gobbled up most of the needed yardage by grabbing a 32-yard pass from Hart. Crenshaw and Roy, Shivers gained first downs with runs of 10 and 11 yards.

With 26 seconds left in the second quarter a Pittsburgh field goal attempt by Bill Shockey bounced to St. Louis's Bobby Williams, and the Cardinals took the ball on their own 33-yard line. St. Louis gained 34 yards when pass interference was called on a toss from Hart to Dave Williams.

On the next play Hart completed a pass to Jackie Smith for 33 yards and the third Cardinal touchdown. Place kicker Jim Bakken converted the extra point on both of Hart's touchdowns, and added a 26-yard field goal in the fourth quarter.

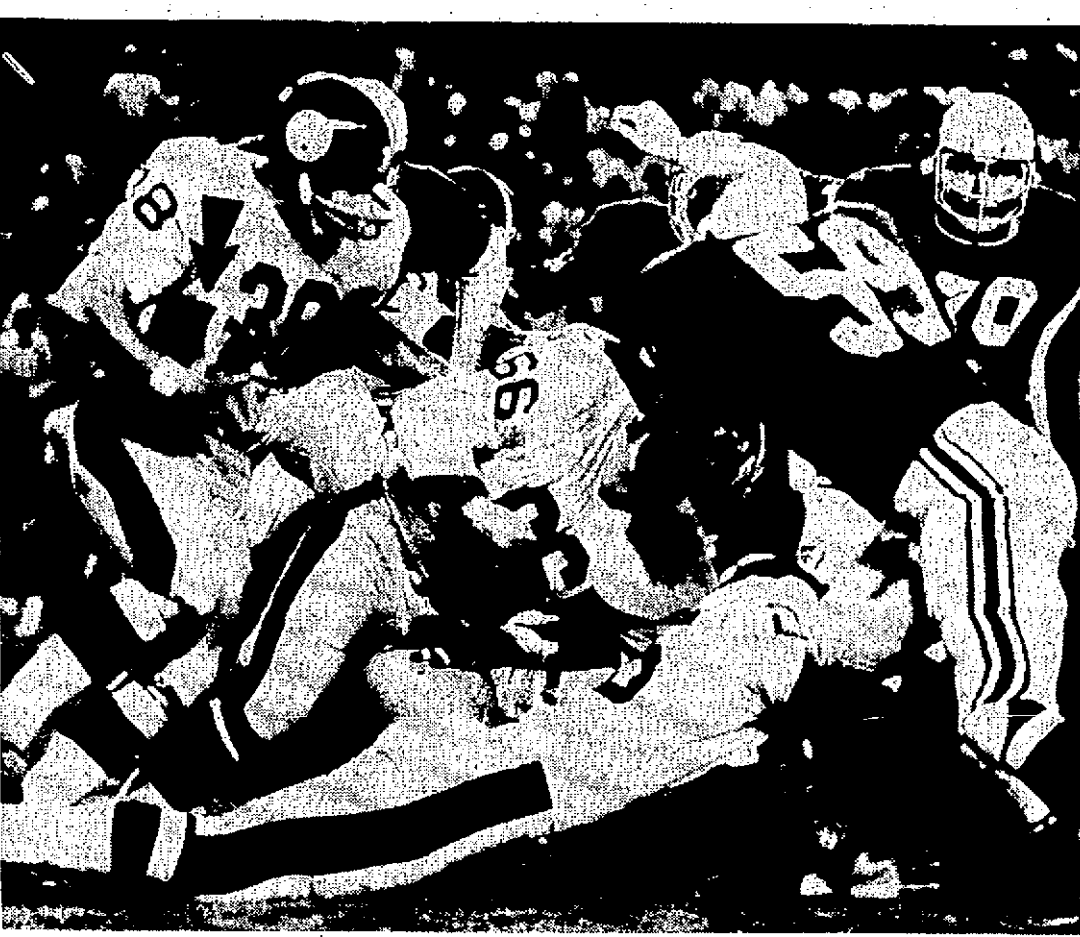

The only Pittsburgh score was in the second quarter when Kent Nix passed to Roy Jefferson for a 6-yard scoring play. Jefferson, the Steelers' leading yardage gainer with 70 yards on pass receptions, moved 25 yards on two other passes from Nix during the drive from the Pittsburgh 29.

Unbeaten Mustangs Oppose Riverside

The Mel Burns Mustangs face Riverside today at 4:30 p.m. in the Connie Mack state tourney at Gonzalez Park.

Riverside, and the Mustangs, along with Downey, are the only undefeated teams in the 10-team tournament at the Compton park, located two miles west of Long Beach Blvd. on Rosecrans.

Salta Eager to Clinch Fourth Baseball Title

With four games at friendly Blair Field, Salta Pontiac will attempt to lock up its fourth successive California Collegiate Baseball League crown this weekend.

The Saltas can take a big step in the right direction this evening by sweeping a two-night doubleheader with runnerup LaMesa.

Leon Hooten (6-3) will start the 4 p.m. contest for Salta and Joe Miller (4-3) will work the 8 p.m. nightcap for Salta coach Al Verdun.

Hooten and Miller expect a great deal of offensive help for seven teammates who are batting .300 or better.

The best of that bunch is Dale Duncan (.394). He's followed by Steve Turigliatto (.387), Mike Burns

HOWARD HUGHES—
INVISIBLE MAN OF LAS VEGAS

62-year-old billionaire Howard Hughes is the most publicized and least photographed industrialist in modern times. Why does a man who insists upon remaining unseen involve himself in businesses that so consistently expose his name in the limelight? Why does this self-styled recluse move into a place like Las Vegas, taking over its leading hotels and buying up its most valuable property? Don't miss Lloyd Shearer's in-depth study of a complex eccentric, the nation's richest individual, in Parade Magazine Sunday in the I.P.T.

ART TO SNIPE TO DRAG RACES

Art shows, snipe championships, championship regatta, drag boat championships are all part of the swinging weekend with the California International Sea Festival. The Long Beach Art Festival, a sidewalk show, will be staged Saturday on Pine Avenue between 1st and 6th Streets. Full details of these and other allied events will be found in Sunday's sports and main news sections.

SECURITY WATCH

The tightest security in the history of the state—possibly the nation—guards Sirhan Sirhan, the accused slayer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. In his isolated, special jail cell Sirhan's movements are watched 24 hours a day. This protective cloak extends even to his family. For enlightenment on how the police are protecting this accused slayer from would-be slayers see Mary Neiswander's story in Sunday's main news.

ATTACK-PROOF CITIES?

The prototype of the world's most powerful radar system to protect the nation's cities from attack is now being constructed by the Hughes Aircraft Co. in Fullerton under a $13.5 million Air Force contract. This fantastic radar system is presented in Sunday's Progress Section.

Damascus Favored to Move Up Notch on All-Time $$$ List

Associated Press

Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's champion Damascus, starting on his second million, can tack another $35,132 onto his bankroll by winning the $50,000-added William Du Pont Jr. Handicap. The Delaware Park feature on the track's closing day is among the highlights of today's thoroughbred racing program.

The others include the $50,000-added Alabama Stakes at Saratoga, the $40,000-added Laurence Armour Handicap at Arlington Park and the $25,000-added Margate Handicap at Atlantic City.

Damascus increased his earnings to $1,025,526 by capturing the Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct July 20 in the track record time of 1:59 1/5 for 1 1/4 miles. He holds down the No. 8 position among the all-time money winners and should move up a notch today. Native Diver is directly ahead of him with earnings of $1,026,500.

The Du Pont is over 1 1/16 miles and five other horses are slated to oppose Damascus, including Hedvar, a stablemate, Damascus, who'll be ridden by Braulio Baeza, will carry the top weight of 134 pounds. Others in the field are Big Rock Candy, Fast Count, Charles Elliott and Pouting.

A field of nine, headed by Heartland, Gay Matelda and Miss Ribot, has been named for the 88th running of the $50,000-added Alabama Stakes in the wake of the unexpected withdrawal of Dark Mirage from the 1 1/4-mile race.

Heartland, owned by the King Ranch, is the early line favorite at 7-5 followed by Meadow Stable's Gay Matelda at 5-2 and Miss Ribot at 5-1. The latter two are the coltweights at 118 pounds.

The field, which had been expected to be small, grew in size when trainer Everett King announced Thursday that Dark Mirage, the queen of the 3-year-olds had suffered a bruise on her right front foot and would not run.

Iwaki, Pennario Perform in Bowl

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

Hiroyuki Iwaki's Hollywood Bowl concert Thursday night listed four works written in the 20th century. Yet in its way, it was as conservative a program as most of those we are witnessing this summer in the Bowl.

Surely there is nothing very enterprising, especially from a conductor born in 1932, about an evening's repertoire encompassing the G Major Piano Concerto of Ravel, the same composer's "Bolero," Kodaly's Suite from "Hary Janos" and Ernst von Dohnanyi's "Variations on a Nursery Theme."

THE ONLY novelty about such an evening would involve superlative interpretive insights coming equally from the podium and piano bench. Alas, insights of that ilk were seldom present.

Leonard Pennario, that vastly gifted and consistently underrated (a prophet in his own country . . .)

pianist, did give a superb, tightly knit and poetic reading of the Ravel Concerto, aided nicely by Iwaki and the Los Angeles Philharmonic. But that was the exception in a mostly pedestrian performance. In matters of execution, the rest of the program was ordinary at best, sometimes plain sloppy.

What the same pianist failed to do with Dohnanyi's charming Variations was to project the wit, the archness, the ebullience and the petulance behind the notes themselves. Perhaps, under existing aural and personnel circumstances, that was not possible.

UNFORTUNATELY, without strong projection of its better qualities, the work can sound like a great waste of time and effort. Even those of us who love it were hard pressed to defend it Thursday night, for Iwaki's flabby uninformed accompaniment added nothing in the way of character to the mood of blandness emanating from the piano.

Nor did the young Japanese conductor outline the contrasts, and Magyarisms of "Hary Janos" with much conviction. On the podium, Iwaki moves a lot, but seldom with the result of illuminating the score, either for the orchestra or for the listener. Looking vigorous, which Iwaki does, is no substitute for leading the way, which he did not do on this occasion.

BOOK REVIEWS

Study of Long Beach Issued

FOCUS ON LONG BEACH, published by the League of Women Voters of Long Beach, $1.25.

Primarily a reference book, this 74-page work resulted from a Know-Your-City study.

Principal emphasis is upon government and administration in the state's fourth largest city (pop. 391,000).

Sections show how each department works, what each elected or appointed official does and how each provides services that affect daily life. Also explained are particular laws and policies of the Long Beach administration.

"THE CITY'S history parallels that of most of Southern California," the publication points out.

Another fact cited: it was Englishman William Willmore who "first visualized this shoreline region as a city" in 1881.

Here is a readable book that fits a need of the average citizen. School administrators, recognizing the book's value, have purchased 5,000 copies for use in the 9th and 12 grades. — Jim Goodrich

ELDORADO. By Bayard Taylor. A facsimile of the original two-volume set of 1850. Lewis Osborne, Palo Alto, $21 for the two volumes in slip cover.

Like all Lewis Osborne items of Californiana, this edition of Bayard Taylor's "Eldorado" is as handsome an example of the printer's art as one is likely to come across. The eight color plates are reproduced for the first time in more than a century.

Bayard Taylor was one of the great travelers of the mid-19th century. He had gained fame with his book of European travels, "Views Afoot," and other books. Horace Greeley believed him just the man to cover the great story of 1849, the California Gold Rush, and the newspaperman's instinct of Greeley proved unerring. What Taylor reported to the readers of Greeley's New York Tribune turned out to be one of the few genuine classics of the Gold Rush. Here was a man who was able to adapt himself to the roughest of conditions, who was artist and man of letters enough to describe the grandeur of the scenery; who was a deep student of history so that he could see and tell the social and political phenomena which underlay the tumult of the Gold Rush.

JUST AS the miners dug beneath the surface for gold, Taylor dug beneath the surface for the implications of what was going on. The Osborne facsimile is a treasure to own. It has added such new material as a portfolio of mining town pictures; a large fold-out map of California; rare portraits of Taylor and Lt. Edward Beale, his companion; a complete index and bibliography, and a most illuminating lengthy biographical introduction by Richard H. Dillon, who wrote "Fool's Gold." — Nat Horig

SOME LAUGHTER, SOME TEARS. By Sholom Aleichem. Translated and with an introduction by Curt Leviant. Putnam, $5.95.

This column has exulted many times over the tales of the great Yiddish master Sholom Aleichem, which dealt with a world that has vanished — the Jewish world of old Russia. It is a joyful occasion to report that Curt Leviant's new selection of Aleichem's stories portrays not only the humors and sadnesses of the Russian Jews, but also Jewish life in America (Aleichem spent his last few years in New York). The best examples of Aleichem's wit and pathos are here.

ARCHAEOLOGY. Edited by Samuel Rapoport and Helen Wright. Washington Square Press, 90 cents.

In this, another volume in the New York University Library of Science, great archaeologists of the past and our time tell of the most important and dramatic discoveries in their field: the Rosetta Stone, Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, the Dead Sea Scrolls, the excavations at Troy, Mycenae and the Minoan palace, the Lascaux cave paintings, Herculaneum (destroyed by Vesuvius). Nor are the exciting discoveries in Asia and Oceania overlooked, nor those in the New World, such as the remains of the great Maya and Aztec cultures.

GUIDE TO THE MOVIES

As a guide to moviegoers, this newspaper on Wednesdays and Saturdays lists capsule contents of many of the major motion pictures playing the Long Beach area. The classifications represent the judgment of the Film Board of National Organizations.

THE SECRET LIFE OF AN AMERICAN WIFE — In a highly sophisticated George Axelrod comedy, suburban housewife Anne Jackson fears that her physical appeal has dwindled, and is reassured of her desirability via an assignment with movie star Walter Matthau. Adults.

POOR COW — British-made attempt to convey the flavor of lower-class life in England. Relief from general grimness of film is provided in sometimes touching treatment of mother-child relationship. Adults.

SPEEDWAY — Though confronted with staggering bills, in this light comedy Elvis Presley has Nancy Sinatra and plenty of music and stock-car racing to keep up his spirits and help him straighten out his affairs. Adults, young people.

WHERE WERE YOU WHEN THE LIGHTS WENT OUT? — Sexy farce stars Doris Day as actress caught in embarrassing situation during the Northeast power blackout of 1965. Adults, mature young people.

GREEN BERETS — Tale of violent heroics of American forces in Vietnam. Adults.

YOURS, MINE AND OURS — Simple-minded but generally enjoyable comedy about a widow and widower whose marriage brings together under a single roof total of 18 offspring. Lucille Ball and Henry Fonda head cast. General audience.

PLANET OF THE APES — Excellent science-fiction tale of three astronauts catapulted into an era 2,000 years hence when their spaceship lands on planet inhabited by civilized apes and mutated humans. Cast includes Charlton Heston, Roddy McDowell, Kim Hunter, Maurice Evans. Adults and mature young people.

Firm to Study Orange County Job Practices

Another look at Orange County's employment practices will be taken this fiscal year, for $55,000.

The Arthur Young and Co., which has been retained by the county for several years to analyze its manpower practices, got another contract this week from the Board of Supervisors.
